The Causes and Consequences of Re-trafficking: Evidence from IOM Human Trafficking Database
2010/74 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

This research paper aims to address the causes or consequences of re-trafficking through an exploratory analysis of known re-trafficking cases in the Human Trafficking Database of the International Organization for Migration (IOM). The report examines a number of factors a means to better understand and tackle the issue of re-trafficking, revealing that many existing reintegration programmes for victims of trafficking are not effectively tackling the economic realities faced by victims post-rescue. The report offers a number of recommendations, concluding that it is only by finding sustainable ways to challenge the wider economic inequalities, both global and local can counter-trafficking efforts be truly effective.

International Migration Law N°24 - Rights, Residence and Rehabilitation: A comparative Study assessing Residence options for trafficked persons
ISSN 1813-227824
English
USD 30.00

This IOM multi-country research report examines the right to residence for victims of trafficking, analyzing the legal framework on residence options for trafficked persons and how these legal norms are being translated into practice. Based on a comparative legal and practice-based assessment of the application of the right to residence in four selected countries (Austria, Belgium, Italy, United States of America), the research reveals that trafficking victims are rarely seen as the holder of rights. Instead, they are often seen as “instruments” in investigations or prosecution because the right to residence is linked to law enforcement cooperation; and where such rights exist, they are poorly implemented or subject to strict eligibility criteria. The report concludes by offering a number of good practices for the anti-trafficking community.

Migration Research Series °36 - Trafficking of men – a trend less considered: The case of Belarus and the Ukraine
2008/128 pages
English
USD 16.00

Through the lens of trafficking in males (primarily adult men) from Belarus and Ukraine, this study considers male victim's pre-trafficking life (namely their personal, family and socioeconomic background), trafficking experience (from recruitment, through transportation and during exploitation) and post trafficking experience (including assistance and protection needs). It examines, on the one hand, what is known about this less considered profile of trafficked persons and, on the other hand, what can be done to meet their needs, both as a means of assistance and protection. The specific experiences of trafficked males of Belarusian and Ukrainian nationality highlight some general patterns in terms of how trafficking takes place from these countries and, equally, some of the needs and interests of this specific target group.

USD 35.00

IOM has had some 18 years of experience in implementing counter-trafficking activities and has provided assistance to over 20,000 victims of trafficking in all regions of the world. This Handbook summarizes and systematizes this experience. Thereby it recognizes the uniqueness of each victim requiring different assistance and the differing as well as changing nature of trafficking around the world by not provide one single methodology for the provision of assistance to victims of trafficking. The Handbook provides guidance and advice necessary to effectively deliver a full range of assistance to victims of trafficking from the point of initial contact and screening up to the effective social reintegration of the individuals concerned.

Caring for Trafficked Persons - Guidance for Health Providers
2009/232 pages
ISBN 978-92-9068-466-4
English, Chinese

For health practitioners, diagnosing and treating trafficked persons can be exceptionally challenging. The informed and attentive health care provider can play an important role in assisting and treating individuals who may have suffered unspeakable and repeated abuse.

Caring for Trafficked Persons brings together the collective experience of a broad range of experts from international organizations, universities and civil society in addressing the consequences of human trafficking. The handbook provides practical, non-clinical advice to help a concerned health provider understand the phenomenon of human trafficking, recognize some of the associated health problems and consider safe and appropriate approaches to providing healthcare for trafficked persons.

The International Organization for Migration is the leading inter-governmental organization in the field of migration. Since its creation in 1951, it has been dedicated to promoting humane and orderly migration for the benefit of all. IOM offers a broad range of programmes to governments and migrants to counter trafficking in persons, aiming at influencing irregular flows towards orderly and regular migration for the benefit of all, both serving the interests of governments as well as migrants.

Guidelines for the Collection of Data on Trafficking in Human beings, Including Comparable Indicators

2009/145 pages
ISBN 978-92-9068-464-0
English
Available in PDF format only

The lack of reliable and comparable data on trafficking in human beings remains one of the main obstacles in effectively preventing and combating trafficking in human beings as well as protecting and assisting victims.

IOM and the Austrian Federal Ministry of the Interior have recently published the Guidelines for the Collection of Data on Trafficking in Human Beings, Including Comparable Indicators, developed to create the necessary basis for an improved collection and comparison (as well as sharing) of data on THB. The Guidelines seek to enhance the capacity of the national authorities to collect and share data as well as to contribute to EU wide efforts to enhance data collection and to foster cooperation among EU Member States.

Guiding Principles on Memoranda of Understanding between Key Stakeholders and Law Enforcement Agencies on Counter Trafficking Cooperation

2009/52 pages
ISBN 978-92-9068-518-0
English
Available in PDF format only

One of the main objectives of the United Nations Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking (UN.GIFT) is to prosecute the criminals involved while protecting the rights and well-being of the trafficked persons. In order to achieve this goal, effective cooperation between different law enforcement agencies as well as cooperation between those agencies.

The "Guiding Principles on Memoranda of Understanding between Key Stakeholders and Law Enforcement Agencies on Counter-Trafficking Cooperation" are intended to be a practical tool for counter-trafficking experts from law enforcement agencies to specialized service providers, NGOs, trade unions, the judiciary, the prosecution services, faith-based organizations, etc., on how to build Memoranda of Understanding on cooperation between those institutions.

Beneath the Surface - Methodological issues in research and data collection with assisted trafficking victims

2010/93 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

This IOM and NEXUS Institute-authored report considers the methodological and ethical challenges of conducting research and collecting human trafficking data. The analysis contained in this study sheds light on the debate about the current quality and integrity of research and data collection in the trafficking field; and offers recommendations to improve future efforts to produce reliable data and derive an empirically-based understanding about the nature of human trafficking. Based on experiences with collecting data of assisted victims of trafficking in the IOM Human Trafficking Database, the report calls for more accurate and in-depth research and data collection on a broader range of topics related to trafficking, underscoring to importance of proper exchange of particular research and data collection efforts with policymakers and practitioners to facilitate informed decisions and the the employment of research findings and data for anti-trafficking responses.

Wolves in sheep's skin – A rapid assessment of Human Trafficking in Musina, Limpopo Province of South Africa

2010/89 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

In view of an information gap on the incidence and prevalence of human trafficking in Musina, a city in the Limpopo Province of South Africa, this rapid assessment gives evidence to various forms of trafficking, and different forms of exploitation. While many migrants are at risk of being trafficked being inexperienced and not informed of immigration procedures and the dangers of travelling through non-border post crossings, the report found that particular groups of migrants are more at risk than others.

Stating that the protection system in place to support undocumented Zimbabwean adults and children in terms of shelter, food and health assistance shows a number of weaknesses and gaps that hinder adequate responses to human trafficking, the report gives a set of recommendations on how stakeholders can strengthen their interventions to more effectively combat human trafficking.

Human trafficking in eastern Africa. Research Assessment and Baseline Information in Tanzania, Kenya, Uganda, and Burundi

2008/90 pages
ISSN 978-92-9068-443-5
English
Available in PDF format only

The purpose of this research project is to give evidence to reports that human trafficking is occurring in Eastern Africa and to better understand its forms and effects, the people involved, and the way it can be effectively addressed.

In Pursuit of the Southern Dream: Victims of Necessity. Assessment of the irregular movement of men from East Africa and the Horn to South Africa

2009/168 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

This report highlights a poorly documented phenomenon: the scope and nature of irregular migration and human smuggling of men from East Africa and the Horn towards South Africa. It addresses the issues of protection, human rights abuses, corruption, complicity of public officials, as well as the related border management challenges.

"No Experience Necessary": The Internal Trafficking of Persons in South Africa, IOM Regional Office in Southern Africa

2008/75 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

This publication covers an assessment of internal trafficking of persons in South Africa. Completed over a period of six months, beginning in March 2008 and ending in September 2008, the aim of this research was to provide relevant qualitative findings concerning the internal trafficking of persons for the purposes of commercial sexual exploitation, forced labour, and the removal of organs.

Trafficking of Fishermen in Thailand

2011/92 pages
English
Available in PDF format only

The objective of this report is to provide a better understanding of the recruitment, living and working conditions of fishermen and the extent of exploitation and abuse in the Thai fishing sector. The report reviews the legislative and regulatory framework governing the fishing sector and the recruitment of fishermen and its implementation, highlighting certain gaps which enable traffickers to operate in the sector and lead to abusive labour conditions. The report also examines protection and support services accessible by victims of trafficking.

Psychosocial and Mental Health Service Provision for Survivors of Trafficking – Baseline Research in the Greater Mekong Subregion and Indonesia

2009/114 pages
ISBN 978-92-9068-474-9
English
Available in PDF format only

This "baseline paper" investigates current "psychosocial" intervention measures, while focusing on the mental and emotional well-being of trafficked persons, examining interpretations of "psychosocial" support and constructively critiquing the efficacy and breadth of such interventions. Moreover the study looks into the link between the provision of services and the actual needs and rights.

Monitoring of Child Labour Use in the Cotton Fields

2011/128 pages
English, Russian
Available in PDF format only

This report investigates the impact of the ban of the Tajik Government to use students as labour force in raw cotton harvest by analyzing the public opinion on these issues. Throughout the entire period of cotton harvesting, the authors of this study conducted a questionnaire survey among a significantly large community of respondents, including students, teachers and parents. Further the study is based on the respective laws and regulations, reviewing direct and indirect circumstances of students' involvement in raw-cotton harvest.
