1. Are you a National NGO (NNGO) providing GBV prevention, mitigation and response services in Ayod, Juba, Magwi, Mayom, Kapoeta and Rubkhona?
2. Would you like to partner with IOM to strengthen your GBV prevention, response and mainstreaming programming?
3. Do you meet this eligibility criteria?
 - NNGO that is legally registered in South Sudan
 - Can demonstrate existing GBV prevention, response and risk mitigation activities in one of the identified locations
 - Has been operational in the location of interest for at least 3 years
 - Has available funding for GBV programming for at least 6 months and demonstrates the ability to raise funds after the partnership comes to an end
 - Can avail copies of annual and financial reports (including audited reports where necessary) for the last 2 years
 - Clearly explains how the project activities are tailored to emergency or recovery context and respond to the identified needs in the location
 - Recommended by the GBV sub-cluster

If so; this opportunity is for you!

IOM with support from USAID is implementing an Integrated Emergency Water, Sanitation and Hygiene (WASH) and Response and Prevention of Gender-Based Violence (GBV) program. The aim is to increase access to safe, equitable and adequate WASH services by responding to, mitigating and preventing Gender-based Violence (GBV). The program hopes to among others contribute to increased understanding and capacity to prevent, mitigate and respond to GBV, through improving prevention and protection services and responding to the health, psychosocial and economic needs of those affected.

We are looking for NNGOs with existing GBV prevention and response programmes in Ayod, Juba, Magwi, Mayom, Kapoeta and Rubkhona to partner with in 2018. Successful applicants will receive technical support in the form of a small sub grant for an initial period of 5 month with possible extension to 1 year (between 50,000-150,000 USD), capacity building trainings as well onsite and distance support on GBV. IOM hopes that at the end this partnership, the selected partners will be able to provide better quality GBV services that not only meets the needs of survivors but that they will facilitate community led GBV prevention processes where community members start questioning the legitimacy of GBV and together devise mechanisms to address it. We are looking to support activities designed to address needs in both emergency and areas of transition for returns and recovery. The proposed projects should clearly demonstrate how they are tailored to the context.

If your organization is interested in being part of this, please complete the application form, narrative proposal/ budget and send to ISSJP@iom.int no later than 15th April, 2018.
