In fact one universal theme amongst all of these faiths is, The Golden Rule.

“Do unto others as you would have others do unto you,” said Jesus in his Sermon on the Mount in Matthew.

The great Jewish sage, Rabbi Hillel, lived in the land of Israel in the first century BCE. A prospective convert to Judaism asked Hillel to teach him the entire Torah while he stood on one leg. Hillel replied: “That which is hateful unto you do not do to your neighbor. This is the whole of the Torah, the rest is commentary. Go forth and study.”

The Muslim Prophet Muhammad said, “That which you want for yourself, seek for mankind.”

Siddartha Gautama (Buddha) was recorded in as saying, “Hurt not others in ways that you yourself would find hurtful.”
