This note outlines the potential role of Regional Consultative Processes (RCPs) and other Inter-State consultation mechanisms on migration (ISCMs) in the implementation, follow-up and review process of the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration (GCM). While GCM implementation rests with States, ISCMs can be requested by their Member States to facilitate the exchange of practices, information and knowledge thereby contributing to building States’ capacities. The role of other regional actors, such as the political and economic unions or UN Regional Commissions is articulated in the table in Annex.

UN Member States positions on the GCM implementation vary considerably. While 156 States have endorsed the GCM, a few have not and may not pursue its implementation, follow-up and review. Many are keen to stress the GCM’s State-led, non-binding nature; some have suggested that where and as relevant ISCMs’ State-led, non-binding nature make them well suited to support the GCM implementation, follow-up and review.

Finally, States continue reaffirming their appreciation of ISCMs’ role as discussion forums and migration governance processes, irrespective of their position on the GCM.

BACKGROUND ON ISCMs, GRCP, GCM AND IMRF

Inter-State Consultation Mechanisms (ISCMs)

Inter-State consultation mechanisms on migration (ISCMs) are State-led, ongoing information-sharing and policy dialogues at the regional, inter-regional or global level for States with an interest in promoting cooperation in the field of migration. They may either be officially associated with formal regional or multi-stakeholder institutions’ or be informal and non-binding.

- Regional consultative processes on migration (RCPs) refer to ISCMs among countries within a given region.
- Interregional forums on migration (IRFs) connect countries in a dialogue across two or more regions and/or migration corridors.
- Global processes on migration, such as the Global Forum on Migration and Development - GFMD, facilitate dialogue across all regions.

There are currently 17 RCPs, 12 IRFs and 1 global process on migration: over 200 States and territories participate in at least one ISCM either as Members or Observers. ISCMs are often the only entities specifically focusing on migration within or across the regions. Irrespective of their common defining features, each ISCM is unique, with a specific geographic and thematic context. Some ISCMs focus exclusively on specific issues (e.g. counter-trafficking, labour migration, etc.); others address a broader range of issues of interest to their constituent States.

Global Meeting of Regional Consultative Processes and other ISCMs (GRCP)

Initiated and coordinated by IOM, the biennial Global meeting of RCPs and other ISCMs (GRCP) brings together the Chairs and Secretariats of main ISCMs to foster exchanges and synergies on various migration topics and contribute to improved policy coherence at regional, interregional and global levels. As evidenced at GRCP 4, 6 and 7, GRCP meetings can also facilitate formulation of collective ISCMs positions, inputs and approaches to other ongoing migration-related global initiatives (e.g. SDGs and the GCM).i

GRCPs also have facilitated partnerships between ISCMs and UN Regional Commissions (UN ReCs). In fact, depending on the topic selected for the GRCP meeting, IOM has co-opted UN ReCs in some of the GRCP events, notably GRCP 6 in 2016, focusing on Migration and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), and GRCP 7 in 2017, focusing on the role of ISCMs and other regional partners (political and economic unions and UN Regional Economic Commissions) in the GCM. The ensuing GRCP 7 outcome document reflected such collective position on the GCM - a set of joint actionable commitments on the GCM derived from ISCMs and their regional partners’ recommendations. These were submitted to the GCM stocktaking conference in December 2017 along with the summary of the pre-GRCP stocktaking survey on ISCMs and the GCM.

Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration (GCM)

The Global Compact for safe, orderly and regular migration (GCM) is the first intergovernmentally negotiated agreement, prepared under the auspices of the United Nations, covering all dimensions of international migration in a holistic and comprehensive manner. Adopted by the Intergovernmental Conference in Marrakesh in December 2018, the GCM is a non-legally binding document; it acknowledges States’ sovereign right to determine who enters and stays in their territory and it demonstrates commitment to international cooperation among all actors on migration.

International Migration Review Forum (IMRF)

The International Migration Review Forum (IMRF) is the primary intergovernmental global platform for UN Member States to discuss and share progress on the implementation of all aspects of the GCM, including as it relates to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

The IMRF will convene every four years, starting in 2022. It will allow for interaction with other relevant stakeholders with the intention of building upon accomplishments and identifying opportunities for further cooperation. Each IMRF is expected to result in an intergovernmentally agreed Progress Declaration, which may be taken into consideration by the high-level political forum on sustainable development (HLPF).

In order to effectively inform the IMRF, “relevant subregional, regional and cross-regional processes, platforms and organizations, including the United Nations regional economic commissions and regional consultative processes on migration” (as outlined in the IMRF resolution)vi are invited to review the implementation of the GCM within their respective regions every four years beginning in 2020, with the involvement of all relevant stakeholdersvii.

The IMRF resolution task the UN Network on migrationv to assist in the preparation and organization of regional reviews of the implementation of the Global Compactvi and in preparation to forums collect all inputs received at local, national, regional and global levels.viii

ISCMs’ Possible Role in the GCM Review Process

ISCMs and the GCM preparatory process
Both the New York Declaration for Refugees and Migrants\textsuperscript{viii} and the GCM Modalities Resolution\textsuperscript{x} refer to ISCMs as ‘valid existing mechanisms’ contributing to the preparatory process and negotiations towards the GCM. The GCM document\textsuperscript{ix} assigns important roles to RCPs and other ICSMs in its implementation, follow-up and review, in particular by contributing to the IMRF.

Many ISCMs have been considering their potential engagement with the GCM since 2016 and some also participated in the GCM consultations. During the two-year long GCM preparatory process, various ISCMs included the Compact in their agendas, workplans and strategies; at least 9 ISCMs formulated formal positions or recommendations during the GCM stocktaking exercise.

While GCM implementation rests with States themselves, ISCMs can contribute to their efforts by providing expert platforms for exchange of practices, information and knowledge on the GCM; and thereby building respective Member States’ capacities.\textsuperscript{xi} According to IOM’s 2018 review,\textsuperscript{xii} irregular migration, labour migration, migration and development, drivers of migration, counter-smuggling and counter-trafficking are GCM themes also frequently addressed by ISCMs in their positions and recommendations on the GCM.

Many ISCMs see their having a role in contributing towards the GCM Objectives on data, drivers of migration, regular migration pathways, reducing vulnerabilities, counter-trafficking, social inclusion, and international cooperation and partnerships.

Both GRCP 7 outcomes\textsuperscript{xiii} and the 2018 IOM Review\textsuperscript{xiv} point to the ISCMs potential for partnerships with other regional actors (e.g. UN Regional Commissions or regional political or economic organizations) for more effective engagement in GCM implementation, review and follow-up at the regional level.

ISCMs and GCM implementation, follow-up and review

The GCM invites RCPs and other ISCMs (or in the words of the GCM document, “State-led initiatives on international migration”) to provide platforms to exchange experiences, foster multi-stakeholder partnerships and contribute to the IMRF “by providing relevant data, evidence, best practices, innovative approaches and recommendations as they relate to the implementation” of the GCM\textsuperscript{xvi}. The GFMD\textsuperscript{xvii} and the International Dialogue on Migration (IDM)\textsuperscript{xviii} are mentioned specifically. Annex II details the role of the GFMD.

Most international migration takes place within regions and States therefore invite the RCPs, as well as other relevant sub-regional, regional and cross-regional processes and the UN ReCs to review the implementation of the GCM at four-year intervals, beginning in 2020. This regional review should allow for the participation of all relevant stakeholders and feed into each edition of the IMRF.

Should they be mandated by respective Member States, individual ISCMs may therefore both contribute to the implementation of the GCM and to the GCM review process at regional and global levels—within the confines of their thematic focus and geographic coverage, by:

- offering forums for their Member States to regularly discuss GCM implementation, exchange practices, and review and formulate collective / regional inputs on the GCM, to feed into the IMRF.

- stock-taking of their respective activities in support of GCM Objectives; maintaining knowledge bases on effective regional practices, approaches and innovative solutions relevant to the GCM contributing towards the knowledge platform and connection hub of the GCM capacity building mechanism.

- collecting data and statistics on migration to support GCM implementation and reporting at the regional level.

- creating networks of officials within their respective constituencies responsible for the GCM implementation and review; or establishing action-oriented working groups on the GCM within each ISCMs, with concrete deliverables.

- building their member States’ capacities; providing expertise and guidance on the GCM, including from the GCM capacity building mechanism.

- building partnerships with UN ReCs, regional political and economic unions and other regional actors towards joint regional GCM reviews and feeding into the GCM reviews by these organizations.

- discuss funding gaps and opportunities, as well as possible joint projects for funding under the Start-up Fund for Safe Orderly and Regular Migration (“Migration MPTF”).

NB: for the different roles of various regional actors (e.g. various political and economic unions or the 5 UN Regional Commissions), please consult Annex III.

Collectively, ISCMs may forge joint positions on the GCM and IMRF: the GRCP can offer a venue to formulate these in anticipation of the IMRF.

ISCMs can prepare for possible engagement by:

- Stocktaking on their existing engagement in and contribution to the GCM objectives.
- Formulating their possible role in the GCM review.
- Obtaining respective MSs’ agreement on their formal engagement in the GCM review.
- Considering modalities for such engagement, e.g. establishing a working group on GCM review; nominating focal points or charging their ‘Secretariats’ to deal with the GCM Review-related matters; maintaining a database of regional activities in support to the GCM and other databases; quantifying the human and financial resources needs; etc.
- Considering how to feed into the GCM review process, whether directly through the ISCM Chair (forwarding an ISCM report to the IMRF), or indirectly, or a combination of both. Such combination can take various forms at national, regional, interregional or global: through the ISCM MSs, their partner regional organizations (relevant UN ReCs, political and economic unions in their respective regions), global processes on migration (GFMD, IMRF itself) as well as the GRCP Meetings.

New York Declaration, Paragraph 54.

“We will strengthen cooperation to this end among countries of origin, transit and destination, including through regional consultative processes, international organizations, the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement, regional economic organizations and local government authorities, as well as with relevant private sector recruiters and employers, labour unions, civil society and migrant and diaspora groups.”

GCM Modalities Resolution, Paragraph 22(b).

Invites Member States and other relevant stakeholders, through regional and subregional consultative processes and, as appropriate, within global processes, mechanisms and initiatives, including the Global Forum on Migration and Development, the International Dialogue on Migration held by the International Organization for Migration and relevant sessions of United Nations entities that address migration-related issues, to contribute to the preparatory process of the global compact.”

Paragraph 47.

Further recognizing the important role of State-led processes and platforms at the global and regional levels in advancing the international dialogue on migration, we invite the Global Forum on Migration and Development, regional consultative processes and other global, regional and subregional forums to provide platforms to exchange experiences on the implementation of the Global Compact, share good practices on policies and cooperation, promote innovative approaches, and foster multi-stakeholder partnerships around specific policy issues.

Paragraph 49.

Considering that international migration requires a forum at the global level through which Member States can review the implementation progress and guide the direction of the work of the United Nations, we decide that:

(a) The High-level Dialogue on International Migration and Development, currently scheduled to take place every fourth session of the General Assembly, shall be repurposed and renamed “International Migration Review Forum”;

(b) The International Migration Review Forum shall serve as the primary intergovernmental global platform for Member States to discuss and share progress on the implementation of all aspects of the Global Compact, including as it relates to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and with the participation of all relevant stakeholders;

(c) The International Migration Review Forum shall take place every four years beginning in 2022;

(d) The International Migration Review Forum shall discuss the implementation of the Global Compact at the local, national, regional and global levels, as well as allow for interaction with other relevant stakeholders with a view to building upon accomplishments and identifying opportunities for further cooperation;

(e) Each edition of the International Migration Review Forum will result in an intergovernmentally agreed Progress Declaration, which may be taken into consideration by the high-level political forum on sustainable development.

Paragraph 50.

Considering that most international migration takes place within regions, we invite relevant subregional, regional and cross-regional processes, platforms and organizations, including the United Nations regional economic commissions or regional consultative processes, to review the implementation of the Global Compact within the respective regions, beginning in 2020, alternating with discussions at the global level at a four-year interval, in order to effectively inform each edition of the International Migration Review Forum, with the participation of all relevant stakeholders.

Paragraph 51.
We invite the Global Forum on Migration and Development to provide a space for annual informal exchange on the implementation of the Global Compact, and to report the findings, best practices and innovative approaches to the International Migration Review Forum.

Paragraph 52.
Recognizing the important contributions of State-led initiatives on international migration, we invite forums such as the IOM International Dialogue on Migration, regional consultative processes and others to contribute to the International Migration Review Forum by providing relevant data, evidence, best practices, innovative approaches and recommendations as they relate to the implementation of the Global Compact for Safe, Orderly and Regular Migration.

Major references to ISCMs in the IMRF modalities (UN GA A/RES/73/326 of 19 July 2019 “Format and organizational aspects of the international migration review forums”)

Paragraph 7.
Requests the Secretary-General to ensure that the expertise of the United Nations system as a whole, including specialized agencies, funds and programmes, related organizations and regional economic commissions, as well as all relevant special procedures mandate holders and treaty bodies, in accordance with their respective mandates, giving due regard to Geneva-based expertise, is coordinated to support the State-led forums and to facilitate their participation therein;

Paragraph 10.
Invites relevant subregional, regional and cross-regional processes, platforms and organizations, including the United Nations regional economic commissions and regional consultative processes on migration, to review the implementation of the Global Compact, within their respective regions, and to contribute to the work of the forums, with the involvement of all relevant stakeholders;

Paragraph 11.
Invites also the Global Forum on Migration and Development, including its civil society, business and mayoral mechanisms, to provide a space for informal exchanges on the implementation of the Global Compact, and report the findings, best practices and innovative approaches to the forums;

Paragraph 12.
Invites forums such as the IOM International Dialogue on Migration, regional consultative processes on migration and others to contribute to each forum by providing relevant data, evidence, best practices, innovative approaches and recommendations as they relate to the implementation of the Global Compact;
Potential GFMD Role in GCM Implementation and Review

From among the ISCMs, the Global Forum on Migration and Development GFMD has been invited to provide a platform to exchange experiences on the GCM implementation and “to provide a space for annual informal exchange on the implementation of the Global Compact, and to report the findings, best practices and innovative approaches to the International Migration Review Forum”. The GFMD has an Ad hoc Working Group on the 2030 Agenda and the GCM and has hosted dedicated sessions on the GCM since 2016. Its contribution to the GCM Stocktaking was a “Thematic Recollection 2007-2017”, highlighting the GFMD work relevant to each of the six GCM themes and suggesting the following role for GFMD in the GCM:

- providing a platform for open dialogue among governments, international organizations, civil society, trade unions and the private sector on all issues related to migration and development.
- serving as a catalyst for practical cooperation and partnerships.
- contributing to the review of the migration-related commitments in the 2030 Agenda and in the GCM.
- interacting with the UN system and feeding its outcomes into relevant UN processes.

What can the GFMD offer to the IMRF:

- advice and guidance to member States.
- platform for exchanges and partnerships on GCM implementation.
- expanding and developing the Platform for Partnerships to compile and maintain information on GCM implementation.
- forum for stocktaking on GCM implementation.
- stocktaking on policy suggestions and options for practical action as outlined during the GFMD thematic roundtables.
- possible platform to transmit States´ reviews on the GCM to the IMRF.
- possible platform at GFMD Summits for annual reporting on the GCM by other ISCMs.
- report to the IMRF on effective practices, key developments and trends (subject to Member States´ approval).

For example, the Migration Dialogue from the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa Member States (MIDCOM) is associated with the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA), the Migration Dialogue for West Africa (MIDWA) with the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS), the Arab Regional Consultative Process on Migration and Refugee Affairs (ARCP) with the League of Arab States, etc.

GRCP 4 in 2013 concluded with specific recommendations for the 2013 UN HLD, including mainstreaming migration into the 2030 Agenda. In 2016, GRCP 6 made recommendations on ISCMs' contribution to attaining the SDGs. In 2017, GRCP 7 formulated recommendations on ISCMs' engagement in the GCM, many of which fed directly into the Global Compact’s adopted text, showing the significant role that the GRCP can play in supporting ISCM’s contributions to global migration governance.

Established in 2018 to ensure effective, timely and coordinated system-wide support to the GCM implementation, the UN Network on Migration brings together 38 entities (Annex II, Terms of Reference for the UN Network on Migration) with 8 of them having a mandate in relation to migration, whereas others may encounter migration issues during the course of implementing their projects and programs. These 8 entities form the Network’s Executive Committee. IOM serves as the Network’s Coordinator and Secretariat.
