Context

The caravan of migrants that left San Pedro Sula on January 15, 2021 managed to enter Guatemalan territory through El Florido border point, in Copan. The large group conforming the caravan split into two large groups which entered Guatemalan territory separately with some hours of difference. The first group, of around 2,500 to 3,000 persons managed to enter Guatemala on January 15, 2021 at night and the second group made up of approximately 4,000 people crossed the border on January 16, 2021 at noon.

Initially, the Honduran authorities did not allow the transit of these groups of migrants, but the large number of people (including children) made it possible for the groups of migrants to break through, despite the fact that all border points between Honduras and Guatemala had strong police and military presence since 14 January 2021. Migrants crossed the border without passing immigration controls. Once in the territory of Guatemala, several efforts were made to stop the convoy. These have produced clashes between authorities and some of the migrants of the caravan in an effort to continue their journey. An IOM team monitoring the caravan was exactly in the place where one of these clashes took place (Vado Hondo, Chiquimula) and had to get back because of safety reasons.

The IOM field teams which were deployed again early this day to continue monitoring the caravan, making voluntary return options available to authorities, civil organizations and migrants. To date, no request has been received from migrants or counterparts to provide assisted voluntary return in Guatemala. Though, IOM has provided internal transportation support for Hondurans in Honduras, to facilitate their voluntary transportation from the border to their communities of origin.

Humanitarian assistance

- Honduras

On January 16, 2021, as part of IOM’s humanitarian response, IOM provided assistance to migrants in the Agua Caliente/Chiquimula border, in the Honduras side, by facilitating transportation to stranded migrants in the border who voluntarily wanted to Return to their communities of origin. A total of 101 migrants were transported to San Pedro Sula, as stated below:

- Route Agua Caliente/San Pedro Sula: 53 persons assisted.
- Route Agua Caliente/San Pedro Sula: 48 persons assisted.

IOM will be providing, in the following days of PPE, exclusively to the migrants who will be returning to Honduras 4,000 PPE masks at the border points of El Florido, Copán (1,000) and Agua Caliente / Chiquimula (3,000).

Challenges

- The teams of the IOM in the field have faced risks to their security, as a result of relatively unexpected violent clashes between security forces and migrants.
- Migrants approached are significantly reluctant to disclose information or accept AVR support.

Next Steps

- On January 17, 2021, 4,000 masks will be donated and placed in El Florido, Copán and Agua Caliente/Chiquimula border posts. These masks will be delivered only to those migrants who joined the caravan and will be returning to Honduras.
- Being almost completely clear that the route that the caravan will follow will be the one Guatemala City – Tecun Uman, the assisted voluntary return teams will reinforce its presence in Tecún Umán and Guatemala City. As these two places certainly will concentrate larger groups where people might find shelter. In coordination with Casa del Migrante, in the framework of the agreement signed with the AVR Program; both, this NGO and IOM will be offering the AVR program to migrants that will arrive at that place, providing humanitarian assistance and AVR support.
- The purchase and distribution of hydration assistance and hygiene kits to the most vulnerable migrants will be completed on January 17, 2021. This assistance will be distributed in partnership with Casa del Migrante.
- The offer and promotion of the program among authorities and counterparts will be strengthened throughout the entire journey and stay of the caravan.
