GLOSSARY

The following are brief definitions of the technical and financial terms used in the Programme and Budget.

Budgeted resources – This is the anticipated funding in the financial year for reimbursement of services provided, or when there is a commitment by a donor(s) to provide funds for new and/or ongoing activities. It includes funding received in the current year or brought forward from previous years.

Core staff and services – Staff positions and office support costs required for overall management and administration and which are not directly linked to any specific activity.

Operational Support Income – This income is composed of “miscellaneous income” and “project-related overhead” as described below.

Earmarked contributions – Contributions made or reimbursed for specific services or operational activities. Such contributions may not be used for purposes other than those for which they were provided without prior authorization by the donor. A significant portion of contributions to the Operational Part of the Budget is earmarked.

Endowment fund – A fund in which the principal must remain permanently intact and only the income (usually in the form of interest) can be used for projects and activities.

Income brought forward from previous years – The excess of income over expenditure of a previous financial year and earmarked contributions received in advance of the current financial year.

Loan fund – A fund that permits the financing, in part or in whole, of the cost of transport of refugees and related services by giving loans to those who require financial assistance to migrate to areas of resettlement. Repayment of such loans is secured by promissory notes signed by the refugee or his or her sponsor.

Miscellaneous income – This income is composed of “unearmarked contributions” from governments/donors, interest and other income.

Projectization – The practice of allocating staff and office costs to the operational activities/projects to which they relate. This concept, and its related tools and procedures, is referred to as projectization.

Project-related overhead – This is an overhead charge applied to all operational projects to cover indirect costs which are not directly linked to specific projects (see “Operational Support Income” above).

Unearmarked contributions – Contributions to the Operational Part of the Budget are unearmarked if they are given as general support and their use is not restricted in any way.

FOREWORD

The 2013 Programme and Budget coincides with the end of this term as the Director General of IOM, and I am pleased to highlight some of the key milestones achieved over the last few years. The Programme and Budget for 2013 reflects many of the initiatives I outlined at the beginning of my mandate.

The Organization has exceeded a landmark budget level of more than USD 1 billion in the last couple of years and this is a testimony to our strengthened relationships and partnerships with all stakeholders in addressing the complex and dynamic migration issues of our time. I would particularly like to express my appreciation to all Member States who continue to strongly support the work of the Organization. The activities outlined in this document are a reflection of IOM's lead role at the global level across a broad range of migration management activities ranging from strengthening the migration governance capacities of governments and institutions to the provision of emergency humanitarian assistance with a strong emphasis on migrant rights and support for victims of trafficking; as well as the provision of resettlement, return and repatriation assistance to refugees and migrants. There are great challenges and also opportunities for the international community in addressing the multifaceted aspects of the unprecedented scale and complexity of today's human mobility. This dynamic environment in which the Organization is operating underscores the need for IOM, together with government, multilateral, civil society and other partners, to be at the forefront of the efforts of the international community to address migration for the benefit of all.

The Administration continues to pursue initiatives aimed at strengthening and expanding partnerships with governments, international and regional organizations, civil society and other actors. I believe that having a voice at every table where migration is being discussed is crucial for the Organization's leadership role. We are committed in our engagement with the Global Forum on Migration and Development, where IOM has provided its expertise and technical support since the Forum's inception. We also continue to be actively engaged with the Global Migration Group. The Administration particularly looks forward to the United Nations General Assembly's second High-level Dialogue on International Migration and Development to be held in 2013, and is fully supporting the preparation of Member States ahead of this milestone debate.

In order for the Organization to support governments effectively on migration issues, I undertook a structural reform right at the beginning of my mandate to align the Organization's structures with emerging migration trends. I continue to review the structure regularly to ensure its relevance and to keep pace with the challenges of an era of unprecedented human mobility. Recent developments in the Horn of Africa call for a strengthened IOM presence in the area, so I propose that the IOM office in Nairobi, Kenya, be designated as a Regional Office because of its central location in the region and its already strong operational capacity committed to addressing the region's pressing migration needs, including the large flows of refugees and internally displaced persons.

In recognition of the challenging economic climate faced by many Member States, the Administration is again submitting a budget based on zero nominal growth for 2013. This has obliged us to explore alternative funding sources and to continue to further implement cost-saving measures, for instance not adding staff positions in key areas such as evaluation, investigation and legal, deferring maintenance of office facilities and strictly applying the use of economy air travel, to get through this period, while constantly alerting you to the significant risks associated with managing the Organization's growth under this strict budget regime of no growth in the Administrative Part of the Budget. I am also highly appreciative of the great strides made by the Working Group on Budget Reform. The Working Group's actions have provided some welcome relief, but more needs to be done to address the central issue of the overstretched core structure. You have my assurance that the Administration will work closely with you towards a hoped-for resolution to this problem.

We recently held a global Chiefs of Mission meeting after almost 17 years since the last one. It was a great opportunity for all the colleagues who represent the Organization in different parts of the world to meet and reconnect drawing on common experiences and to strategize for the years ahead leading to the 65th anniversary of the Organization. I am honoured to be leading such a group of dedicated colleagues who characterize their work with IOM as “a vocation” and not merely as “a job”. I believe this same spirit filters down to all of IOM’s staff, and represents one of the Organization’s great strengths.

I highly appreciate the support of Member States and look back with satisfaction at the strong bonds that we have forged with an array of partners and stakeholders. I look forward to greater collaboration in the years ahead and rely on all your means of support in many areas of the Organization’s work.

William Lacy Swing

KEY DECISIONS AND
FEATURES OF THE
PROGRAMME AND
BUDGET FOR 2013

I. DECISIONS REQUIRED ON THE PROGRAMME AND BUDGET FOR 2013

BUDGET LEVEL

Administrative Part of the Budget

1. The Administrative Part of the Budget is presented on the basis of zero nominal growth at a level of CHF 39,398,792.

Operational Part of the Budget

2. The Operational Part of the Budget is based on anticipated funding and is estimated at USD 642.7 million. This represents an increase of USD 27.3 million compared with the same time last year when the 2012 budget totalled USD 615.4 million.

Operational Support Income

3. The Operational Support Income (OSI) for 2013 has been computed based on the three-year average formula adopted by Member States and is established at USD 52.2 million. This formula has been applied following Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms, which was adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012. Part of OSI is earmarked to fund the Organization's structures and the IOM Development Fund and to cover the fees for IOM participation in the United Nations Department of Safety and Security (UNDSS) mechanism and the cost of IOM staff security structures. The OSI budget is complemented by a drawdown from the OSI projection and reserve mechanism in the amount of USD 1.7 million. This brings the total 2013 OSI budget to USD 53.9 million.

Organizational structure

4. Recognizing that the migration challenges in the Horn of Africa have increased in scope, intensity and complexity, which consequently requires a robust IOM response in terms of human and financial resources and logistical support, the Administration is proposing to designate the existing IOM Country Office with Coordinating Functions in Nairobi as a Regional Office. The regional functions of this office will be funded within available resources.

II. KEY FEATURES OF THE PROGRAMME AND BUDGET FOR 2013

BUDGET FORMAT

5. The Programme and Budget for 2013 is presented in two main parts, in accordance with the Organization's Financial Regulations.

6. Part I covers the Administrative Part of the Budget, which is denominated in Swiss francs and funded by the assessed contributions of Member States.

7. Part II covers the Operational Part of the Budget, which is denominated in US dollars and funded by voluntary contributions. A description of activities and the corresponding financing details are included in the relevant sections of the Operational Part of the Budget.

CONSTITUTION, GOVERNANCE AND STRATEGIC FOCUS

CONSTITUTION AND GOVERNANCE

8. The Organization was established in December 1951 and began its operations in early 1952 as the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration. Its Constitution was adopted on 19 October 1953 and came into force on 30 November 1954. The Constitution was amended, effective 14 November 1989, and the Organization was renamed the International Organization for Migration. The Organization possesses full juridical personality and has its Headquarters in Geneva. It currently has 146 Member States.

9. The organs of the Organization are the Council, the Executive Committee and the Administration. The Council, on which each Member State has one representative and one vote, is the highest authority and determines IOM policies. The Executive Committee, at present comprising 36 Member States elected for a two-year period, examines and reviews the policies, operations and administration of the Organization. The Standing Committee on Programmes and Finance, which is open to the entire membership, meets twice a year to examine and review policies, programmes and activities and to discuss budgetary and financial matters.

10. The Administration, which comprises the Director General, the Deputy Director General and such staff as the Council may determine, is responsible for administering and managing the Organization in accordance with the Constitution and the policies and decisions of the Council and the Executive Committee. The Director General, who is the Organization's highest executive official, and the Deputy Director General are elected by the Council for a period of five years.

PURPOSES AND FUNCTIONS

11. IOM is committed to the principle that humane and orderly migration benefits migrants and society. It acts to help meet the operational challenges of migration, advance understanding of migration issues, encourage social and economic development through migration, and work towards effective respect for the human rights and well-being of migrants.

12. In accordance with the Constitution, the purposes and functions of the Organization are:

- To make arrangements for the organized transfer of migrants for whom existing facilities are inadequate, or who would not otherwise be able to move without special assistance, to countries offering opportunities for orderly migration.
- To concern itself with the organized transfer of refugees, displaced persons and other individuals in need of international migration services, for whom arrangements may be made between the Organization and the States concerned, including those States undertaking to receive them.
- To provide, at the request of and in agreement with the States concerned, migration services such as recruitment, selection, processing, language training, cultural orientation activities, medical examination, placement, activities facilitating reception and integration, advisory services on migration questions, and other assistance as is in accord with the aims of the Organization.
- To provide similar services as requested by States, or in cooperation with other interested international organizations, for voluntary return migration, including voluntary repatriation.
- To provide a forum to States as well as international and other organizations for the exchange of views and experiences, and the promotion of cooperation and coordination of efforts on international migration issues, including studies on such issues in order to develop practical solutions.

IOM'S STRATEGIC FOCUS AND THE MIGRATION CONTEXT

13. The Member States adopted the current IOM Strategy at the Ninety-third (Special) Session of the Council in June 2007 and renewed the Strategy in 2010.<sup>1</sup> The Strategy defines the Organization's mandate and strategic focus in the coming years. The IOM Strategy is repeated below.

14. Since the adoption of the Strategy, the Administration has been working to ensure that all IOM activities are developed and conducted within its framework. The Strategy is applied in briefings and in public information and fund-raising materials. Senior officials discuss the Strategy with their host governments and other partners to enhance understanding of the purposes and work of the Organization and to develop ideas and projects in line with the priorities set out.

15. The primary goal of IOM is "to facilitate the orderly and humane management of migration". Building on its expertise and experience, and in coordination with other international organizations, IOM continues to act as the leading global organization for migration management. The Organization will continue to address the migratory phenomenon from a comprehensive perspective, taking into account the links to development, in order to maximize its benefits and minimize its negative effects. To achieve that goal, IOM will focus on the following activities, acting at the request of or in agreement with Member States:

1. To provide secure, reliable, flexible and cost-effective services for persons who require international migration assistance.
2. To enhance the humane and orderly management of migration and the effective respect for the human rights of migrants in accordance with international law.
3. To offer expert advice, research, technical cooperation and operational assistance to States, intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations and other stakeholders, in order to build national capacities and facilitate international, regional and bilateral cooperation on migration matters.
4. To contribute to the economic and social development of States through research, dialogue, design and implementation of migration-related programmes aimed at maximizing migration's benefits.
5. To support States, migrants and communities in addressing the challenges of irregular migration, including through research and analysis into root causes, sharing information and spreading best practices, as well as facilitating development-focused solutions.
6. To be a primary reference point for migration information, research, best practices, data collection, compatibility and sharing.
7. To promote, facilitate and support regional and global debate and dialogue on migration, including through the International Dialogue on Migration, so as to advance understanding of the opportunities and challenges it presents, the identification and development of effective policies for addressing those challenges and to identify comprehensive approaches and measures for advancing international cooperation.
8. To assist States to facilitate the integration of migrants in their new environment and to engage diasporas, including as development partners.
9. To participate in coordinated humanitarian responses in the context of inter-agency arrangements in this field and to provide migration services in other emergency or post-crisis situations as appropriate and as relates to the needs of individuals, thereby contributing to their protection.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Although IOM has no legal protection mandate, the fact remains that its activities contribute to protecting human rights, having the effect, or consequence, of protecting persons involved in migration.

10. To undertake programmes which facilitate the voluntary return and reintegration of refugees, displaced persons, migrants and other individuals in need of international migration services, in cooperation with other relevant international organizations as appropriate, and taking into account the needs and concerns of local communities.
11. To assist States in the development and delivery of programmes, studies and technical expertise on combating migrant smuggling and trafficking in persons, in particular women and children, in a manner consistent with international law.
12. To support the efforts of States in the area of labour migration, in particular short-term movements, and other types of circular migration.

MIGRATION CONTEXT – CHALLENGES AND IOM'S RESPONSES

16. Today, more people are on the move than at any other time in recorded history: 1 billion people – comprising a seventh of humanity. A variety of elements, not least the information and communications revolutions, are fuelling this unprecedented movement of people. The forces driving migration as a priority issue will endure well into this millennium: climate change, natural and other man-made catastrophes, poverty, conflicts, demographic trends of an ageing industrialized population and an exponentially expanding youth population without jobs in the developing world and widening North–South economic and social disparities will continue to influence the migration landscape.

17. A country or region that has had a large number of people leaving to seek new opportunities abroad can, in a relatively short space of time, become one that attracts returnees and migrants. IOM continues to underscore the need for close monitoring of the global migratory context, including the continuing negative effects of the financial crisis on migrants and countries of origin, transit and destination. These developments accentuate the need for the collection, analysis and dissemination of research findings as a sound basis for policymaking in migration management in economically and politically challenging circumstances.

18. In parallel, attention is increasingly paid to humanitarian challenges caused by conflict and environmental factors in view of their current and potential impact on population mobility, and the effect of population mobility on the environment. The relationship between environmental and climate change on one hand and migration on the other is often complicated by multifaceted interactions with other factors, such as population growth, poverty, governance, urbanization, human security and conflict. The complexities of the migration–environment nexus call for a comprehensive approach in research, policy and practice to which IOM is already contributing.

19. The international migrant population is almost evenly split between men and women, and it is now widely acknowledged that migration is a highly gendered phenomenon: male and female migrants may be motivated by different objectives, seek different jobs, move to different places, face different risks and achieve different outcomes. IOM is committed to ensuring that the needs of both men and women are appropriately identified, taken into consideration and addressed.

20. There is growing recognition that effective management of migration can be achieved: (a) by taking into account a broad range of factors and issues to ensure a comprehensive, coherent and balanced approach within the broader context of sustainable development; and (b) through regional and international dialogue and cooperation involving States, civil society, the private sector, migrants and other stakeholders.

21. Managing migration is a broad and complex issue; however, when conducted effectively, it is of benefit to both countries of origin and destination and contributes to the welfare and effective protection of the migrants themselves. Migration management encompasses numerous governmental functions within a national system for the orderly and humane management of cross-border migration, covering the entry, presence and employment of foreigners within the borders of the State and the protection of refugees and other vulnerable persons. It refers to a planned approach to the development of policy, legislative and administrative responses to key migration issues.

22. Human rights of migrants are crucial in ensuring that migration has a developmental impact on societies and economies. IOM is concerned, therefore, about the prevalent and growing anti-migrant sentiment that characterizes current migration debates – a sentiment that has led to stigmatization and xenophobic tendencies in many countries of destination. IOM aims to promote the view that migrant labour – skilled and unskilled – is desirable and needed for economic growth, and that migration is an essential driver of the global economy.

23. In response to health needs, IOM provides health assessments to migrants, support to governments and populations to help rebuild their health infrastructures in the aftermath of emergencies, and migration health data, analysis and advice to help formulate policies on health matters, including access to health care, mental health and other issues relating to people on the move.

24. Under activities 1, 2 and 3 of the IOM Strategy, advisory and practical services on migration issues are offered to governments, agencies and international organizations, helping them to develop and implement legislative and policy frameworks to facilitate regular migration and prevent irregular migration.

25. Under activities 4 to 8 of the IOM Strategy, recognizing that national development and migratory flows are linked, IOM helps to locate and facilitate exchange of skills and human resources to support the national development efforts of receiving communities through its migration for development, return-of-qualified-nationals, transfer-of-skills and remittance management projects and through programmes designed to maintain contacts with migrants abroad. In this regard, IOM contributes to development in countries of origin and provides “brain gain” and “brain circulation” to counter the effects of “brain drain”. IOM seeks to provide migrants with essential information that can affect their decisions, through information campaigns using a broad range of media channels, including migrant information or resource centres. Information can be geared to warning potential victims of the dangers of irregular migration and trafficking, to informing them of new legislation affecting their status abroad and conditions in their home country, or to encouraging the participation of migrants in elections or referendums, or compensation schemes from which they could benefit.

26. Under activities 9 and 10 of its Strategy, IOM provides assistance to people fleeing conflict or natural disasters, refugees being resettled in third countries or repatriated, stranded persons, unsuccessful asylum-seekers returning home, displaced persons and other migrants. IOM takes the lead role in responding to the needs of displaced migrants in humanitarian situations within the inter-agency humanitarian system. In line with the United Nations Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement, IOM actively supports the displaced population in natural disasters and conflicts. The Organization also provides assistance and protection to displaced migrants in close collaboration with States and local communities. 2011 was dominated by the crisis across North Africa – particularly in Libya – where IOM responded with life-saving assistance for hundreds of thousands of migrants exposed to extreme risks. In addition to regular assisted voluntary return programmes, IOM is increasingly being called upon to help migrants stranded in transit to return home safely. Assisted voluntary return for stranded migrants is not just a humanitarian act; it also helps spread the word, credibly and with great impact on others back home, about the dangers of using smugglers and attempting the irregular migration route. IOM also supports governments and populations to rebuild infrastructures and support efforts to stabilize communities in the aftermath of emergencies.

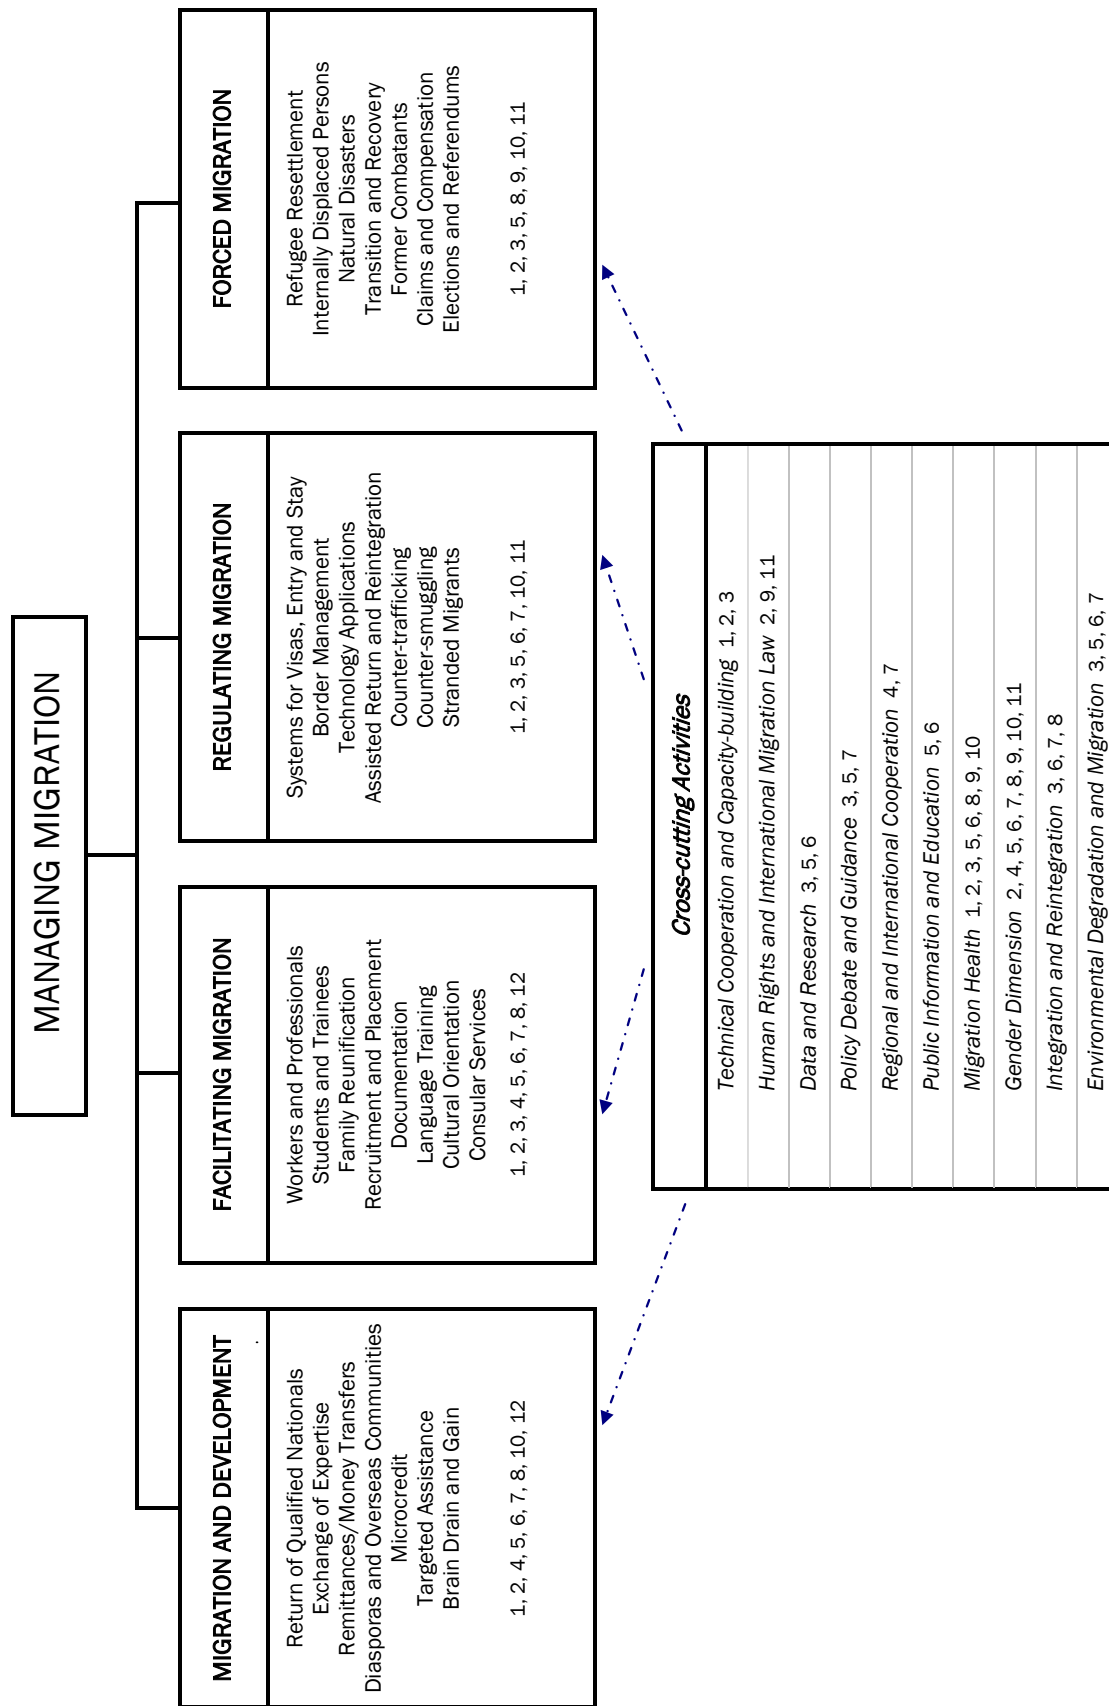

27. Under activity 11 and through its counter-trafficking programmes, IOM recognizes that trafficking in human beings and the smuggling of migrants are the third most profitable illicit trade after drugs and arms, and are heinous crimes that feed on vulnerability. Anti-migrant sentiment and the global financial crisis have led many countries to tighten their visa regimes, which in turn drives more migrants into the hands of traffickers. IOM aims to protect persons from becoming victims of trafficking, ensures that victims of trafficking receive appropriate assistance and protection, trains government officials in methods and legislation to counter trafficking, and advises law enforcement agents on the proper treatment of victims.

28. Under activity 12 of its Strategy, IOM provides expert and practical support to governments across the entire migration spectrum to establish or enhance the frameworks needed to promote and manage regular labour migration, including circular migration, while combating irregular migration and exploitation. This includes providing migrants with various forms of pre-departure to post-return assistance.

29. In addition to its relations with governments, IOM enjoys a wide range of partnerships with international organizations, most prominently with the United Nations and its specialized agencies, civil society bodies, academia, the private sector and the migrants themselves. The increasing complexity of migration issues and sheer number of actors involved call for strong and sustained coordination on both policy and operational matters.

30. In order to illustrate how the 12 activities of the Strategy and thus IOM projects and programmes fit together, all projects are linked to the “managing migration chart” – the so-called four-box chart on the next page – and to the relevant Strategy activity numbers.

Numbers refer to activities in the IOM Strategy (see pages 10 and 11).

INTRODUCTION TO THE BUDGET

31. The Programme and Budget for 2013 provides information about the migration challenges the Organization attempts to address through its global network of offices covering governance, policy, administrative and operational oversight, funding and projects. The document outlines all activities carried out by the Organization from both the policy and operational perspectives. With migration having an impact on almost every country around the globe, IOM offers a wide range of migration-related services to a broad constituency of stakeholders, including governments, individuals and other international institutions.

32. IOM has a limited core structure that oversees the overall delivery of these services. This core structure is funded by the Administrative Part of the Budget and complemented by OSI. Mindful of the prolonged global economic difficulties and the ongoing discussions on budget reform, the Administration has again presented the Administrative Part of the Budget at the same level as the previous year. It is hoped that the outcome of the ongoing budget reform discussions will help address the Organization's funding needs for the core structure.

ADJUSTMENTS TO THE ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

33. IOM's organizational structure is designed to strengthen the Regional Offices and to streamline the allocation of limited core resources in order to further enhance the Organization's effectiveness. The structure aims to provide a uniform approach in the application of administrative and operational policies throughout IOM and strengthened project development capacity, which is the cornerstone of the Organization's activities.

34. Although the structure mostly reflects the one endorsed by the IOM Member States through Council Resolution No. 1186 of 26 November 2009, it is proposed that, owing to evolving operational needs, the existing Country Office with Coordinating Functions in Nairobi be designated as a Regional Office within the limits of available resources.

35. The current structure is composed of four Headquarters departments, two Administrative Centres, eight Regional Offices, two Special Liaison Offices, the African Capacity Building Centre and a network of Field Offices spread across the globe. If approved, the proposal to designate an additional Regional Office in Nairobi in 2013 would bring the total number of Regional Offices to nine.

36. Managing an Organization of this size and having to deal with multiple migration facets has not been easy to do within the limited resources of the core budget. This situation makes it necessary to conduct a continuous assessment of structures to establish their relevance and effectiveness and to make appropriate changes as necessary to achieve ideal results. The constant changes in global migration dynamics provide the basis for establishing appropriate structures as part of the yearly budget process. As the Administration aims to achieve leaner structures without putting the Organization's operations at risk, further options to delocalize functions and services to lower-cost locations will continue to be pursued.

Headquarters

37. Headquarters is responsible for the formulation of institutional policy, the development of guidelines and strategy, setting standards and quality control procedures, and for knowledge management. Headquarters has the following four departments under the Office of the Director General: (a) Department of International Cooperation and Partnerships; (b) Department of Migration Management; (c) Department of Operations and Emergencies; and (d) Department of Resources Management.

38. The following change is proposed for Headquarters.

- Establishment of one Land, Property and Reparations Expert post. IOM has created a niche for itself in this field and it is essential to ensure the sustainability of this expertise within the Organization.

Administrative Centres

39. The Administrative Centres in Manila and Panama serve as administrative hubs providing extensive support to the Organization's global network of offices. They have proven to be successful in further enhancing IOM's cost-efficiency and responsiveness, particularly in light of the Organization's growth in recent years.

40. The following changes are proposed for the Administrative Centres.

- Establishment of three Employee posts in Manila. This is to strengthen existing structures to provide global administrative support.
- Transfer of one Employee post (IT position) to Manila from Panama.
- Establishment of three Employee posts in Panama. This is to strengthen existing structures to provide global administrative support.

Regional Offices

41. The Regional Offices have oversight responsibilities for the Country Offices under their purview. Their configuration is designed to enhance effective use of limited core resources and expertise within and across regions.

42. Recognizing that the migration challenges of the Horn of Africa have increased in scope, intensity and complexity, which consequently requires a robust IOM response in terms of human and financial resources and logistical support, it is proposed that the existing Country Office with Coordinating Functions in Nairobi be designated as a Regional Office. Given Kenya's proximity to the Horn of Africa and the presence of an already strong IOM operational base in the country to handle the regional and interregional flow of large numbers of refugees and internally displaced persons, the Administration views this as a logical and practical proposal. It is envisaged that some staff positions will be transferred from the Regional Office in Pretoria to Nairobi as the countries under the purview of the Regional Office in Pretoria will be reduced if this proposal is approved. The structure of the Regional Office in Nairobi will be established within available resources.

43. The following changes are proposed for the Regional Offices.

- Transfer of two Regional Thematic Specialist posts and one Employee post from the Regional Office in Pretoria to the proposed Regional Office in Nairobi.
- Establishment of one Regional Resource Management Officer post and one Employee post in the proposed additional Regional Office in Nairobi.
- Establishment of one Immigration and Border Management Specialist post for Africa (location to be decided).

Budget format

44. The Programme and Budget for 2013 is presented in two main parts, in accordance with the Organization's Financial Regulations. Separate sections are included for further clarity and ease of reference.

45. Part I covers the Administrative Part of the Budget, which is denominated in Swiss francs and funded by the assessed contributions of Member States. The details of the Administrative Part of the Budget are presented in the object of expenditure table (pages 57 and 58).

46. The Operational Part of the Budget, presented in Part II, is denominated in US dollars and outlines the activities for which budgeted resources could be reasonably estimated at the time the document was being prepared. Any additional financial resources received for new and ongoing activities in the course of the financial year will be reported in future revisions to this document.

47. The estimated Operational Support Income (OSI) is calculated based on a three-year average formula adopted by the Member States. More information is provided in the section on Sources and Application of Operational Support Income (pages 65 to 76).

Budget levels

48. The Administration continues to be conscious of the persistent difficult global financial and economic situation and the ongoing discussions on budget reform. It has therefore taken a pragmatic approach and presented the Administrative Part of the Budget at the same level as last year, in the amount of CHF 39,398,792. Statutory increases will be absorbed through a variety of efficiency measures. As in past years, some posts and office costs will be moved to the Operational Part of the Budget to be covered by OSI in order to absorb statutory increases under a zero nominal growth budget.

49. The Administration recognizes the flexibility offered in the use of current funding with the adoption by the Executive Committee of Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms of 3 July 2012, but notes that this does not adequately address the fundamental issue of funding for the Organization's core structure. It is hoped that the final outcome of the budget reform discussions will manage to do so.

50. The Administration would like to highlight that certain essential functions and services are not adequately resourced or require the establishment of new structures to further enhance the Organization's response capacity to support the efforts of all stakeholders in addressing the global challenges of migration. These services, which are listed on pages 52 and 53, were further underlined during the 2013 budget process that started with a baseline review of structures and funding requirements within the Organization. They further highlight the risks associated with growth and missed opportunities stemming directly from a very constrained core structure.

51. The Operational Part of the Budget is based on anticipated funding for ongoing activities for which there is reasonable assurance of continuation and is estimated at USD 642.7 million. This represents an increase of USD 27.3 million compared with the same time last year when the 2012 budget totalled USD 615.4 million. The Organization does not engage in activities for which it has received no financial commitment or firm pledges. A description of activities and the corresponding financing details are included in the relevant sections of the Operational Part of the Budget.

52. The Organization's engagement in emergency operations has expanded as its services are regularly called upon for humanitarian interventions. Being the cluster lead for camp coordination and camp management has also increased the Organization's responsibilities within the United Nations cluster system. This is evidenced by the high budget level for emergencies compared with the other areas of the Organization's work.

53. The projected OSI budget for 2013 is USD 52.2 million. This is complemented by a drawdown from the OSI projection and reserve mechanism in the amount of USD 1.7 million, bringing the total 2013 OSI budget to USD 53.9 million. In addition to serving as supplementary funding for core structures that cannot be covered under the Administrative Part of the Budget, a significant portion of OSI is allocated to the IOM Development Fund and to cover the fees for IOM participation in the UNDSS mechanism and the cost of IOM staff security structures. The projects financed by the IOM Development Fund are not described by activity in this document, as they are presented in a separate report.

54. Although the Financial Regulations of the Organization stipulate that the Administrative Part of the Budget should be separate from the Operational Part, the use of OSI as supplementary funds to cover the cost of the core structure makes it necessary to present a complete overview of how the core structure is covered by consolidating the two sources of funding. The tables on pages 47 and 48 present combined resources and their use under both the Administrative Part of the Budget and OSI.

Conclusion

55. The case to strengthen the Organization's core structure is underlined by the requests for its services received from an expanded base of stakeholders, which has not only increased the level of activities but has also resulted in a broadened scope of initiatives to deal with all the emerging features of migration. The Administration continues to be committed to serving migrants and governments, building international cooperation and partnerships, and strengthening organizational and management structures to address the multifaceted migration issues globally. IOM remains committed to supporting the efforts of governments in making migration a catalyst for the socio-economic development of societies.

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

IOM ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

DESCRIPTION OF THE ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

56. The new organizational structure, which is designed to enhance the delivery of IOM services, became fully operational in the middle of 2011. It is already proving to be an effective way of managing the scarce resources available for the Organization's core structures. This reconfiguration had become necessary because of the need to have structures that would be responsive to the growing and changing dimensions of migration occurring globally over the last few years. With an increasing operational budget and activities spread over many countries around the world, it was critical to establish appropriate organizational structures that would facilitate the implementation of the Organization's activities and, at the same time, safeguard its assets through effective control mechanisms. It is foreseen to undertake an evaluation of the new structure in 2013.

57. Mindful that migration, if managed properly, can serve the best interests of all stakeholders, the Administration undertakes to ensure that organizational structures keep pace with the growing complexities of various activities. The changing patterns of migration dynamics requires the Organization to position itself to effectively respond to new challenges as they surface. While the recent structural reform undertaken by the Organization had assigned the IOM office in Nairobi, Kenya, as a Country Office with Coordinating Functions for the Horn of Africa, the reality of the situation has clearly demonstrated that the office cannot adequately respond to the vast array of migratory issues of the region based on its existing structure and configuration. In view of the migration complexities in the Horn of Africa, it is proposed that the Country Office in Nairobi be designated as an additional Regional Office. The Regional Office structure will be established within available resources, and it is proposed that some staff positions be transferred from the Regional Office in Pretoria to Nairobi as the countries under the purview of the Regional Office in Pretoria will be reduced if this proposal is approved.

In addition, the Department also manages the IOM Development Fund and is responsible for reviewing, endorsing and managing multi-regional and global projects. 83. The Migration Health Division has the institutional responsibility to oversee, support and coordinate the Organization’s provision of migration health services globally. These services aim to meet the needs of States in managing health-related aspects of migration, and to promote evidence-based policies and integrated preventive and curative health programmes that are beneficial, accessible and equitable for vulnerable migrants and mobile populations. Recognizing that health serves as a catalyst for fostering positive migration outcomes, and in response to the Sixty-first World Health Assembly resolution on the health of migrants (May 2008), the Migration Health Division promotes policies and programmes that contribute to migrants’ improved physical, mental and social well-being, and enable them to contribute to the socio-economic development of their home communities and host societies.

It provides technical support to Field efforts, particularly in responding to forced migration and massive population movements, including protracted internal and cross-border displacement and refugee situations. This contributes to improving the conditions of crisis-affected populations and leads to life-saving interventions through the early identification and implementation of comprehensive durable solutions to end displacement conditions.

91. The Department directs, oversees and coordinates IOM's resettlement work and transport programmes. It also provides strategic recommendations on both policy and operational issues and provides guidance to Field operations on project development and implementation and inter-agency coordination.

92. It also deals with travel and visa-related issues.

ADMINISTRATIVE CENTRES

114. The past few years have seen the steady transfer of functions to IOM's two Administrative Centres located in the Philippines and Panama, which are considered extensions of Headquarters, in fulfilment of the Administration's commitment to manage growth without excessively increasing the need for additional resources. As the number of programmes and offices increases, IOM's core support functions in the key areas of information technology and administrative services have come under mounting pressure, struggling to keep pace with the growth of the Organization within existing financial resources. With IOM membership and programmes expected to continue to increase, the Administration has either transferred functions from Headquarters to the Administrative Centres or increased the support provided by the Centres for functions still carried out at Headquarters. The focus is on labour intensive functions supporting the Organization's global network of Field Offices. The development of functions at the Administrative Centres and the delocalization of functions from Headquarters is an ongoing process used to manage the Organization's growth within the limits of available funding.

Manila Administrative Centre

SPECIAL LIAISON OFFICES

143. Two Field Offices in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and New York, United States of America, responsible for liaison with multilateral bodies are designated as Special Liaison Offices. A brief description of their functions is outlined below.

144. Addis Ababa, Ethiopia – Maintains and strengthens IOM's relations with the African Union, the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa, the Intergovernmental Authority on Development, diplomatic missions and non-governmental organizations (NGOs) by contributing to their understanding

145. New York, United States of America – seeks to strengthen IOM's relations with the United Nations, diplomatic missions and NGOs by contributing to their understanding of migration issues, facilitating international policy dialogues on migration and by bringing attention to migration-related implications in other policy debates on issues ranging from peace and security to human and sustainable development to humanitarian response. It also helps to strengthen liaison with the United Nations administration, through participation in appropriate United Nations policy and operational inter-agency information-sharing and coordination mechanisms, pursuing modalities for enhanced cooperation between IOM and the United Nations and enhancing programmatic collaboration with relevant United Nations bodies. In this regard, the Office coordinates, guides and advises the Organization and its offices worldwide on policies, programming and funding with respect to a wide range of multi-donor trust funds based in New York.

COUNTRY OFFICES

146. IOM has a global network of Country Offices and sub-offices which implement a wide range of projects addressing specific migration needs. These offices keep abreast of and analyse migration issues and emerging trends in the country in order to develop appropriate responses and contribute to regional strategy and planning. On the basis of the regional strategies, they develop a country strategy and a national plan of action in coordination and consultation with their respective Regional Office. They are financed predominantly by the projects implemented in the respective locations.

Country Offices with Resource Mobilization Functions

147. To ensure effective fund-raising and liaison with donors, four Country Offices that coordinate substantial funding for IOM's activities worldwide (Berlin, Germany; Helsinki, Finland; Tokyo, Japan; and Washington, D.C., United States of America) have additional responsibilities for resource mobilization. They support the development of funding policies, establish priorities and procedures, prepare proposals and develop fund-raising strategies and mechanisms for national programmes and projects in line with the IOM Strategy and priorities.

Country Offices with Coordinating Functions

148. Within the large geographical areas covered by each Regional Office there are subregional migratory realities for which certain Country Offices are assigned coordinating functions to deal with such specific migration dynamics. These offices help address specific subregional migration issues and emerging trends and promote increased IOM membership in the subregion. They establish priorities for project development and resource mobilization, and stimulate, direct and support project development in the cluster of offices in the context of subregional strategies, policies and consultative processes. The initial six country offices with coordinating functions are now reduced to five in view of the proposal to designate the IOM Country Office in Nairobi, Kenya, as a Regional Office. The five remaining offices and their areas of coverage are: (a) Astana, Kazakhstan, for Central Asia; (b) Bangkok, Thailand, for South Asia; (c) Canberra, Australia, for the Pacific; (d) Georgetown, Guyana, for the Caribbean; and (e) Rome, Italy, for the Mediterranean.

COORDINATING COMMITTEES

149. Although not part of the core structure, two coordinating committees for management coordination and policy formulation are expected to facilitate communication and cooperation between Headquarters and the Field and to enhance the quality of decision-making and compliance throughout the organizational structure.

150. A Policy Formulation and Coordinating Committee consisting of the Director General, the Deputy Director General, the Chief of Staff, Regional Directors, Heads of Department and Senior Regional Advisers will review, from a policy and programmatic perspective, IOM's activities, identify opportunities for innovation and growth, as well as potential obstacles, and set broad priorities of action for the Organization.

151. A similar committee will be established in each of the regions composed of the Regional Director, the relevant Senior Regional Adviser and Chiefs of Mission. These regional policy coordinating committees will review IOM's activities in the regions, identify opportunities for growth, establish priorities and identify potential obstacles, and develop regional strategies.

152. A Management Coordinating Committee consisting of the Director General, the Deputy Director General, the Chief of Staff, Heads of Department, the Director of the Human Resources Management Division, Senior Regional Advisers and Heads of the Administrative Centres will ensure coordination between departments, Regional Offices and the Administrative Centres and provide guidance on major or complex management, resource allocation and utilization issues.

FUNDING OF CORE STRUCTURE

FUNDING OF IOM'S CORE STRUCTURE

DEFINITION OF THE CORE STRUCTURE

153. Resolution No. 134 adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012 defines the core structure of IOM as the minimum structure necessary for the Organization to deliver its services. The core structure comprises functions needed to exercise basic management responsibilities, including policy formulation, financial and budgetary control, activity planning and development, and liaison with governments and multilateral partners.

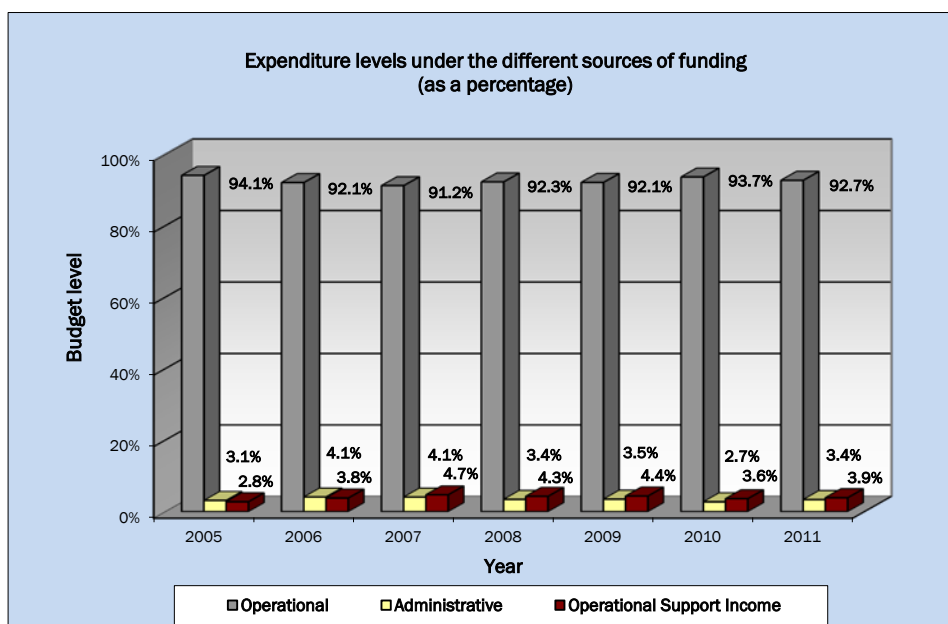

- (a) At Headquarters, this includes the costs of all staff who serve as advisers and/or who plan, organize, supervise and monitor the overall activity of the Organization, within regional and functional contexts, and whose work is not tied to the implementation of a single identifiable programme or project.
- (b) In the Field, this includes the costs of Regional Offices, Administrative Centres, Special Liaison Offices, Country Offices with Coordinating Functions and Country Offices with Resource Mobilization Functions when the activities of these offices are of a regional or organization-wide nature, and when they are not tied to the implementation of a single identifiable programme or project, and involve: significant liaison duties; management of relations with other multilateral bodies; planning, organizing or implementing the activities of the Organization at the global, regional or subregional level or in a functional capacity; overseeing and supporting the operations of the Organization in the areas of project development, endorsement and implementation; procurement services; control of project expenditures; receipt and disbursement of funds; negotiation of agreements; provision of recruitment and human resources services; financial reporting; support to external/internal audits; and the provision of global administrative support.

SOURCES OF FUNDING FOR THE CORE STRUCTURE

154. The Organization's core structure is funded from the Administrative Part of the Budget and supplemented by Operational Support Income (OSI). The level of the Administrative Part of the Budget is decided by Member States and the budget for OSI is established on the basis of a three-year average. The core budget covers the minimum structure necessary for the Organization to deliver its services. Over the years, funding for the core structure has not kept pace with the growth of the Organization's work, an issue of great concern that is currently being reviewed by the Working Group on Budget Reform, established by the Member States.

155. With the Administrative Part of the Budget held to zero nominal growth, all annual statutory increases and any expansion of the core structure resulting from the Organization's development and growth is to a large extent absorbed by OSI.

156. The chart below illustrates the level of expenditure under the Administrative Part of the Budget, OSI and the Operational Part of the Budget from 2005 to 2011. It shows that the limited core funds are only 7.3 per cent in 2011 to support an activity level of about USD 1.3 billion. The proportion of the core structure in relation to the Organization's total budget is one of the lowest ratios in any public sector organization. This situation poses significant administrative challenges in establishing procedures that facilitate the smooth running of IOM's activities and, at the same time, ensure adequate controls are established to guarantee the safety of the Organization's resources. The chart does not cover 2012, as the figures are based on actual expenditures from the yearly financial reports.

157. The Administration has worked closely with Member States over the years to find ways of maintaining a reasonable core structure, but a sustainable and long-term mechanism has not been found. At the same time, the migration phenomenon continues to expand both in scope and depth, as do the responses required of IOM. This has led to significant growth in all areas, heightening the need for additional resources to fund the core structure. The Member States have granted temporary and relatively small amounts of relief from zero nominal growth on a few occasions, and OSI. The table below illustrates that the Administrative Part of the Budget has increased by only 16 per cent over 17 years (1997 to 2013) compared with the significant growth in all other areas of the Organization.

Trends under the Administrative Part of the Budget

Year(s)	Administrative Part of the Budget	Increase in %
1997 to 2000	34 060 000	ZNG
2001	35 763 000	5.00%
2002	35 763 000	ZNG
2003	36 673 000	2.54%
2004	37 119 000	1.22%
2005 to 2006	37 119 000	ZNG
2007	38 045 000	2.49%
2008	38 045 000	ZNG
2009	38 806 000	2.00%
2010	39 388 000	1.50%
2011	39 388 000	ZNG
2012*	39 398 792	ZNG
2013 proposal	39 398 792	ZNG

Note: ZNG stands for zero nominal growth.

*The increase of CHF 10,792 in 2012 is from the contributions of new Member States.

MEASURES TO ADDRESS LIMITED FUNDING FOR THE CORE STRUCTURE

Budget reform

158. In order to find a solution to funding IOM's core structure, which is not adequately financed in a predictable and sustainable manner as is the case in other international organizations, the Working Group on Budget Reform was established by the Member States under the leadership of the Chairperson of the IOM governing bodies and tasked with examining the issue of budget reform. Since its establishment in May 2010, the Working Group has been reviewing options for funding IOM's core structure and submitted various recommendations to the membership. Although some short-term solutions have been found to give the Administration some flexibility in the use of contributions from new Member States, they do not fully address the problem. The Working Group is in the process of working with the Administration to review and explore alternative funding sources, including new and non-traditional donors.

159. Some of the more significant measures, most of which are integrated into Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012, are mentioned below.

Addition of contributions from new Member States to the Administrative Part of the Budget

160. Starting in 2012, the contributions of new Member States that join IOM during 2012 or any subsequent year shall constitute an increase in the level of the Administrative Part of the Budget as well as the approved expenditure appropriations for that year. The contributions of existing Member States before a new Member State joins the Organization shall remain to a large extent the same for that budget year and all subsequent budget years.

Systemic solution for the use of surplus in the Administrative Part of the Budget

161. Mindful that there could be years where a surplus is generated when the entire budget is not consumed or the provision for doubtful receivables decreases due to a large payment of outstanding contributions, Member States have approved a systemic solution for the use of surpluses in the Administrative Part of the Budget, whereby any surplus equal to or less than 1 per cent of the budget can be made available to the Administration for non-recurrent expenditure. Although this solution addresses some one-time costs when a surplus becomes available, it does not resolve the issue of funding for the core structure.

Operational Support Income projection and reserve mechanism

162. Member States authorized the Administration to use as a baseline/starting point the average of the results of the previous three years of the OSI budget as derived from the Organization's financial reports and budget documents. The proposed budget level for a year must remain within a 10 per cent range of variation in either direction of the three-year average if the formula is not strictly adhered to. This would allow the Administration some flexibility in determining the budget level taking into account more recent trends of operations as well as the projected level of activities.

163. In accordance with Executive Committee Resolution No. 134 of 3 July 2012, if the actual OSI generated at the end of a budget year is greater than the established projection, the difference will be applied towards Line 2 of the IOM Development Fund, staff security and unforeseen shortfalls; and any balance remaining thereafter will be transferred to the OSI reserve. In 2012, the minimum required balance of the OSI reserve has been reduced from USD 10 million to USD 5 million.

FUNDING OF THE CONSOLIDATED CORE STRUCTURE

164. The table on the following pages presents an overview of core structure funding under the Administrative Part of the Budget and OSI for 2013. Notwithstanding that the Organization's Financial Regulations require the Administrative and Operational Parts of the Budget to be separate, this information seeks only to provide an overview of how the entire core structure is funded.

165. The consolidated table also includes miscellaneous income, which comprises unearmarked contributions and interest income, in order to provide a complete picture of the application of OSI.

166. The core structure under both sources of funding is subject to statutory increases of approximately 3 per cent every year which have to be covered. The combined resources of the Administrative Part of the Budget and OSI to cover the core structure and other non-staff items in 2013 amount to approximately USD 92.2 million.

ADMINISTRATION

(in Swiss francs)

BACKGROUND

167. The Organization's engagement in a plethora of migration issues around the globe continues to grow. The expansion of the scope and volume of the services provided, with a corresponding increase in budget, membership and global outreach through the vast network of Country Offices, is a testimony to the seriousness with which the entire world views the migration phenomenon. This trend invariably requires the enhancement of policy, administrative, legal, financial and operational structures. The diversity of IOM activities and reach of the Organization's projects and programmes spanning all continents and interlinked between countries requires strengthened administrative and management support structures if project objectives are to be met and accountability requirements are to be adequately achieved. With the Administrative Part of the Budget restricted by zero nominal growth, funding for the core structure has not kept pace with the significant changes in the Organization.

168. Various measures have been taken over the years to operate within the limited core budget. These include delaying the upgrade of outdated information technology systems and office equipment and refurbishment of premises, the deferral of reclassifications following restructuring of the Organization, the decentralization of functions from Headquarters to the Field, the delocalization of back office functions to low-cost locations in Manila and Panama and reduced travel being restricted to economy class, among other initiatives. It has however become impractical to continue such measures as they would put in peril the effective implementation of the Organization's services and operations. While these measures have thus far provided some temporary budgetary relief, they do not solve the central issue of core structure funding. Member States recognized the strong impact that a limited core budget has on the Organization's management when they established the Working Group on Budget Reform, which will hopefully find a sustainable solution to bridge this funding gap. The Working Group has taken a number of positive actions, but more needs to be done to address the central issue of funding for the core structure.

BUDGET LEVEL

169. The Administrative Part of the Budget is financed by contributions from the Organization's current 146 Member States.

170. Bearing in mind the ongoing budget reform discussions and conscious of global economic challenges, the Administration presents the Administrative Part of the Budget at the same level of CHF 39,398,792 as in 2012 by absorbing statutory increases through a variety of efficiency measures and structural adjustments.

CORE COSTS NORMALLY COVERED BY ASSESSED CONTRIBUTIONS

171. As in previous years, the Administration would like to bring to the attention of Member States costs relating to the core structure which are normally covered by assessed contributions in most international Organizations, as well as areas that need to be strengthened to enhance the Organization's response capacity. As a consequence of the inadequate core structure, the Organization's policy development to support emerging dimensions to the migration landscape lags behind and support units are unable to fully meet the challenges associated with increased activities.

172. Cluster responsibilities: The designation of IOM as the cluster lead for camp coordination and camp management in natural disasters requires an institutional commitment to meet the relevant obligations. The Organization does not have experts funded from the core budget to fully meet its inter-agency obligations. The funding currently available barely covers IOM's responsibility to organize training for all stakeholders as the cluster lead and to develop strategies within the cluster framework.

173. PRISM maintenance costs: PRISM provides an integrated platform for controlling and managing the Organization's financial and human resources. Its ongoing maintenance is an integral component of IOM's core structure and should be covered by the Administrative Part of the Budget.

174. Staff safety and security: Staff security costs are covered through a special overhead mechanism that allows IOM to pay annual fees to UNDSS and costs for compliance with the Minimum Operating Security Standards (MOSS) and the Minimum Operating Residential Security Standards. These costs have been increasing over the years as a result of the Organization's increased engagement in emergency activities. Should a decision be adopted by Member States to cover at least UNDSS fees under the Administrative Part of the Budget, OSI would be freed up to fully address the MOSS compliance requirements in all Field Offices and to maintain a reasonable balance under the staff security mechanism to meet unforeseen evacuation costs should they arise.

175. Statutory increases for the core structure: IOM applies the United Nations common system conditions of service for its staff, and statutory increases relate to salaries and entitlements established for all categories of staff. These costs are beyond the control and influence of the IOM Administration and should be covered by the Administrative Part of the Budget as they relate to positions needed to sustain the basic minimum core structure.

CORE NEEDS AND SERVICES THE ADMINISTRATION CANNOT FULLY DELIVER DUE TO LIMITED FUNDING

176. Through the Organization's yearly budget process, which takes a baseline approach in reviewing budgetary needs submitted by all organizational units for core funds, for 2013 the Administration has identified key areas that are not adequately resourced and therefore require strengthening or the establishment of new structures to enhance the Organization's capacity to meet the increasing demands for its services. These reflect very critical needs that have not been met, resulting in missed opportunities and exposure to risks associated with growth and expansion.

177. Audit and evaluation: Given the size of the Organization and the variety of projects implemented, it is critical for IOM to expand its audit and evaluation services. Member States have also reiterated the importance of a strong evaluation function and some donors have highlighted the Organization's need to strengthen its audit and evaluation capacity.

178. External audit: The budget allocation for the external audit has remained at the same level for many years despite the growth of the Organization. Additional funds are needed for the delivery of effective audit services which require travel to a number of Field Offices and project sites. The external audit is mandated by the Financial Regulations and is a key tool in ensuring full financial transparency.

179. Finalization and translation of official documents: Much of the delay in finalizing and translating documents is caused by limited resources. The Administration is obliged to focus resources on making documents available in English first, followed by the translations. This often results in delays in having documents translated.

180. Gender coordination: The Administration places significant importance on mainstreaming gender sensitivity, not only in staffing matters, but also in programmatic issues; however, this process has been slow because of limited capacity.

181. Human resources: With the growth in the Organization and greater involvement in emergency activities, there is now an urgent need for new and strengthened human resources functions, such as staff counselling and staff welfare. These functions are needed to deal with growing human resources management issues, particularly those related to rotation and career development. The Human Resources Management Division has been overwhelmed in recent years by the rapid expansion of the Organization.

182. Inter-agency affairs: There is a growing need to strengthen the Organization's relations with intergovernmental organizations, NGOs and other multilateral institutions, as this provides an effective framework for consistent and effective cooperation with partner intergovernmental organizations. Member States have stated that IOM should cooperate effectively with other institutional partners, notably the United Nations.

183. International Dialogue on Migration: The function is obliged to rely totally on rather unpredictable donor funding as there are no core funds allocated for this activity. It is becoming increasingly difficult to raise funds for these forums; this will eventually have an impact on the number of informal consultation meetings and intersessional workshops.

184. Knowledge management: The Administration recently undertook an analysis and survey of the Organization's knowledge management needs. It was determined that the existing systems that support them are functionally outdated and run on hardware that is long overdue for replacement, and that the software is also outdated and no longer supported by the vendors. Knowledge management is a critical need, particularly given IOM's decentralized structure and lack of a fully accessible source for acquired knowledge.

185. Legal services: The growth in the Organization has resulted in an increased demand for legal services related to policy, membership, staff matters, contracts and donor agreements. The current structure of the Office of Legal Affairs is grossly insufficient to address the large growth in IOM's operations in recent years. The Office has been overwhelmed by a backlog of contracts and agreements requiring its attention. The lack of capacity to address these matters increases the financial risks undertaken by the Organization, as well as non-financial risks.

186. Media and communications: This important medium for promoting the Organization's services is limited and overstretched as the Organization has media focal persons only for the Americas and Asia. Migration is a sensitive issue requiring clear and accurate communication between stakeholders to assure effective programme implementation.

187. Migration health emergency operations capacity: IOM provides integrated technical guidance and support in addressing the health risks of vulnerable groups during emergencies. With the growth in the Organization's engagement in emergency activities, the needs in this area have been increasing over the years. Adequate policy guidance and oversight, however, cannot be provided because of limited core resources.

188. Private sector liaison: Private sector partnerships offer potential prospects for the funding of migration-related projects. There is a need for the creation of a private sector liaison function that would develop relationships and pursue opportunities for funding.

189. Procurement: Given that the External Auditors have emphasized the urgent need to improve monitoring and oversight of the procurement process, this critical risk area needs to be strengthened. Although IOM has on occasions applied some modest funding to address procurement issues, it has been grossly insufficient to meet the needs of an Organization which now procures hundreds of millions of dollars of items, including non-food items, medical supplies, construction materials and other challenging purchases. This is one of the most exposed areas, as, without adequate compliance, there could be many financial risks and potential losses.

190. Staff development and learning: The critical importance of training to the success and effectiveness of IOM's management and operations is evident. Owing to the limited training budget, priority is given to the most immediate needs and staff development is slightly hampered.

APPLICATION OF THE ADMINISTRATIVE PART OF THE BUDGET

191. The allocation of funds under the Administrative Part of the Budget is consistent with the definition of core functions as set out in Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012.

192. The Administrative Part of the Budget partly covers the core structure needed to exercise basic management functions, including policy formulation, financial and budgetary controls, activity planning and development, and liaison with governments and multilateral partners.

193. Given that the Administrative Part of the Budget has been held to zero nominal growth and the Administration has had to absorb statutory increases over the years, a large part of the Organization's core structure is covered by OSI.

ADJUSTMENTS AT HEADQUARTERS AND IN THE FIELD

194. The overall staffing levels under the Administrative Part of the Budget in 2013 compared with 2012 are: Headquarters – 61 Officials and 41 Employees (2012: 62 Officials and 41 Employees); Manila Administrative Centre – 2 Officials and 12 Employees (2012: 2 Officials and 12 Employees); Panama Administrative Centre – 1 Official and 1 Employee (2012: 1 Official and 1 Employee); Regional Offices – 26 Officials and 24 Employees (2012: 27 Officials and 24 Employees); Special Liaison Offices – 2 Officials (2012: 1 Official).

Headquarters

195. Headquarters is organized into the following four departments under the Office of the Director General: (a) Department of International Cooperation and Partnerships; (b) Department of Migration Management; (c) Department of Operations and Emergencies; and (d) Department of Resources Management. These four departments are designed to consolidate structures in order to enhance efficient use of limited resources.

196. While the overall number of Employee positions remains the same, the number of Official positions covered under the Administrative Part of the Budget in Headquarters has been reduced by one position, for the following reason.

- Office of the Director General: It is proposed to move the position of the Special Adviser to the Director General to OSI in order to absorb some of the statutory costs under the Administrative Part of the Budget. This change does not have an impact on the number of posts in the Office of the Director General.

Field

197. The Regional Offices designated in the Field have oversight responsibilities for the Country Offices under their purview and the two Special Liaison Offices responsible for liaison with multilateral bodies and diplomatic missions are funded under this part of the budget. This structure is designed to enhance effective use of limited core resources and expertise within and across regions. The total number of Regional Offices will be 9 in 2013 with the proposal to designate the existing Country Office with Coordinating Functions in Nairobi as a Regional Office.

198. Although the number of Official and Employee positions remains the same, the following adjustments between staff lines are proposed:

- Transfer one Official position in the Bangkok Regional Office from the Administrative Part of the Budget to be funded by OSI, in order to cover the post of the Regional Director of the Nairobi Regional Office under the Administrative Part of the Budget.
- Transfer one Official position in the Brussels Regional Office from the Administrative Part of the Budget to be funded by OSI, in order to cover the post of the Chief of Mission of the Addis Ababa Special Liaison Office under the Administrative Part of the Budget, as Ethiopia is now a Member State of IOM.

199. The details of these changes can be seen in the staffing table on page 59.

Staff fixed costs

200. The estimate for other staff benefits shows a net decrease of CHF 143,000 for the following reasons:

- A decrease in post adjustment is offset by an increase in base salary that is calculated on the basis of changes in the cost of living and exchange rates in line with the United Nations salary scale. This does not result in salary increases; the aim, rather, is to maintain income and purchasing power in local currency at the same level for all Officials at the same grade and step worldwide. The change in this line item is offset by the impact of exchange rate fluctuations.
- Staff member contributions to health and accident insurances have slightly increased reflecting the actual entitlements of staff members, which are mainly influenced by family composition.
- Staff member contributions to the United Nations Joint Staff Pension Fund have increased. The estimates are based on the actual costs of staff funded under this part of the budget.

Staff variable costs

201. The variable staff costs (mobility and hardship allowance, family allowance, language allowance, rent subsidy, education grant and home leave) reflect the actual staff members entitlements, most of which are influenced by family composition.

Non-staff costs

202. Most non-staff costs, including communications, contractual services and governing body sessions, are straight-lined, with the exception of the following changes:

- The allocation for amortization, rental and maintenance of premises has been decreased by CHF 150,208 in order to absorb some of the statutory costs under the Administrative Part of the Budget. This reduction is associated with security of the Headquarters building and it is proposed that this be covered from the staff security mechanism.
- The allocation for travel and representation has been decreased by CHF 20,000 in order to absorb some of the statutory costs under the Administrative Part of the Budget.

ASSESSMENT SCALE

203. Through Resolution No. 1228 of 5 December 2011, the Council authorized the Executive Committee to adopt a scale of assessment for IOM Member States in 2013, on the basis of an assessment scale fully equated to that of the United Nations and updated with the addition of new Member States. The IOM assessment scale for 2013 is therefore fully equated to the larger membership of the United Nations through the application of the equation factor.

204. The contributions from Member States to the Administrative Part of the Budget have been calculated in accordance with the scale of assessment adopted by the Executive Committee in July 2012 (MC/EX/718).

OPERATIONAL SUPPORT INCOME

SOURCES AND APPLICATION OF OPERATIONAL SUPPORT INCOME

206. In line with Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012, part of OSI is earmarked as complementary funding to cover the Organization's core structures. The chart below, which is based on the annual Financial Reports, shows that actual OSI generated has increased over the years as the Organization's activities have expanded.

207. The OSI budget is based on a three-year average. This provides an objective method for estimating the OSI level for a budget year and facilitates the budget process by enhancing predictability and transparency. Part of OSI is also earmarked for the IOM Development Fund and to cover the fees for IOM's participation in the UNDSS mechanism and the cost of IOM staff security structures. The remaining balance at the end of the year after unforeseen contingencies are covered is credited to the OSI projection and reserve mechanism. Funds will be drawn from the reserve should the amount of OSI available at the end of the financial year be less than the amount projected. This approach helps address concerns about fluctuations in the OSI forecast over the course of the budget year.

208. The OSI projections for 2013 are calculated based on the average of the three years outlined below:

- USD 46.7 million – Programme and Budget for 2012 (MC/2317)
- USD 57.8 million – Financial Report for the year ended 31 December 2011 (MC/2345)
- USD 52.1 million – Financial Report for the year ended 31 December 2010 (MC/2313)
- The total for the three years is USD 156.6 million.

209. The three-year average of USD 52.2 million (156.6/3) represents the OSI forecast for 2013.

210. In addition, the OSI budget has been complemented with a drawdown from the OSI projection and reserve mechanism in the amount of USD 1.7 million following the decision by Member States to reduce the mandated minimum balance of the reserve from USD 10 million to USD 5.0 million. At the time of the decision, the reserve had a balance of USD 10.6 million and the Administration was authorized to use the USD 5.6 million in excess of the revised mandated balance of USD 5.0 million. It is proposed that the drawdown be used for functions and services most affected by the Organization's growth for up to four years until they can be covered from other sources, and therefore only a modest part of the balance would be used in 2013. This drawdown will primarily fund new functions in areas that need strengthening, namely the establishment of an Immigration and Border Management Specialist post for Africa, a Regional Resource Management Officer post and support staff positions in the proposed Regional Office in Kenya, a Land, Property and Reparations Expert at Headquarters and the shift from the Administrative Part of the Budget of two Thematic Specialist positions in the Regional Offices of Bangkok and Brussels in order to accommodate the posts of the Regional Director of the Regional Office in Kenya and the Head of the Special Liaison Office in Ethiopia.

211. The total OSI for 2013 comprising the yearly budget of USD 52.2 million and a drawdown from the reserve in the amount of USD 1.7 million is USD 53.9 million.

INTRODUCTION

212. This section of the document presents an overview of the sources and application of OSI. The costs covered by OSI are separated under the subheadings of project-related overhead income and miscellaneous income as described below. The allocation of OSI to cover core structures and services is guided by Resolution No. 134 on budget processes and mechanisms adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012.

213. Details of staff positions, office costs and other line items funded by OSI are provided in Annex III.

PROJECT-RELATED OVERHEAD INCOME

1. Headquarters

214. The core staff at Headquarters are those who serve as advisers and/or who plan, organize, supervise and monitor the overall activity of the Organization, within regional and functional contexts, and whose work is not tied to the implementation of a single identifiable programme or project. The continuous application of zero nominal growth under the Administrative Part of the Budget over the years has resulted in core structural and related office costs being funded by OSI.

Budgeted resources: USD 8 534 000

2. Field – Administrative Centres

215. The Manila and Panama Administrative Centres are considered extensions of Headquarters and provide administrative support throughout the Organization. Most of the functions in these two Centres provide general administrative support and are therefore covered by OSI.

3. Field – Regional Offices and Special Liaison Offices

216. Following the Organization's projectization policy, most of the staff and office costs in the Field Offices are directly attributed to the projects under which they are incurred. However, certain staff positions, functions and related office costs in the Regional Offices and Special Liaison Offices cannot be charged to specific projects because they undertake liaison duties; manage relations with other multilateral bodies; plan, organize or implement activities of the Organization at the global, regional or subregional level or in a functional capacity; oversee and support the operations of the Organization in the areas of project development, endorsement and implementation; procure services; control project expenditures; undertake receipt and disbursement of funds; negotiate agreements; provide recruitment and human resources services; perform financial reporting; support external/internal audits; and/or provide global administrative support. In such circumstances, OSI is allocated to cover these functions in the Field. The budget allocation for Country Offices with Resource Mobilization Functions and Country Offices with Coordinating Functions are also included under this section.

4. Field – Country Offices

217. In line with the Organization's projectization policy, most of the staff and office costs in the Field Offices are directly attributed to the projects under which they are incurred. In some cases, however, the Administration supports Country Offices where project funds do not fully cover the costs of office structures, particularly for liaison activities or establishing/maintaining a presence as an investment for potential project opportunities.

5. African Capacity Building Centre

218. The objectives of the African Capacity Building Centre established in Moshi, United Republic of Tanzania, in collaboration with the Government are to: (a) help promote international understanding of migrants and migration issues; (b) promote sound migration governance in Africa; (c) develop, institutionalize and deliver on-site and off-site migration management training programmes; and (d) build the migration management capacity of African States. In meeting these objectives, IOM works closely with all governments, regional bodies and other stakeholders across the continent.

6. Immigration and Border Management Regional Thematic Specialists

219. Five Immigration and Border Management Thematic Specialist posts in Europe, Asia, Latin America, Africa and the Middle East provide needed expertise in the development and implementation of technical cooperation and capacity development projects; endorse new immigration and border management projects from the region; promote strategic planning, direction, development and delivery of training; and forge partnerships with governments and agencies.

7. Office of the Inspector General

220. Two Compliance Officers in Africa and Asia support the oversight and internal control functions of the Organization. They help ensure that IOM's objectives are pursued in compliance with the Organization's rules, regulations and ethical standards; they also detect fraud, waste, abuse and mismanagement and contribute to the management and minimization of risk.

8. Media and communications

221. Two Media and Communications Officers in Asia and the Americas help enhance the knowledge and understanding of IOM as the principal intergovernmental migration organization and the primary reference point for migration-related information on the two continents.

9. Research

222. Three research posts in Africa, Asia and Latin America support the conduct and management of applied research on migration issues in order to enhance programme delivery. They help promote awareness and understanding of international migration within and outside IOM.

10. Migration Health Regional Thematic Specialists and Technical Experts

223. Through its various activities, over the years the Organization has acquired knowledge on determinants and compiled a substantial amount of data on the health of migrants. Governments and partner agencies rely on IOM for evidence-based information on migrant health, especially as international awareness of the complex relationship between migration and health matures. IOM support and technical expertise for prevention, advocacy, policy development and strategy-setting therefore are given high priority. To ensure further growth and support in programme development, senior migration health thematic specialists are strategically placed to function as focal points for regional coordination, standard-setting, project endorsement and technical backstopping. The senior specialists also respond to the needs of governments for migration health advice and assistance, especially in regions experiencing new challenges caused by expanded or changing migration flows and/or compromised access to health services.

11. Emergency and Post-crisis Expert

224. An Emergency and Post-crisis Expert in Latin America complements the work of the Department of Operations and Emergencies by supporting the development of policy and global strategy and providing guidance on IOM's role in crisis mitigation, management and recovery.

12. Information technology

225. Efforts will be made to update and enhance existing technology and organization-wide information systems through several ongoing and planned projects that will enable the Organization to continue providing effective and efficient support to administrative and operational structures. This is in line with the objective to maximize the benefits of an integrated resources management system. The priority projects requiring funds in 2013 are described below.

- PRISM Human Resources will be upgraded to improve existing features and rolled out to more Field Offices. As the number of Field Offices connected increases, PRISM Human Resources can be further integrated with PRISM Financials.
- PRISM Financials will undergo regular maintenance, and efforts will be made to improve its reporting capabilities and to establish a solid framework for managing and prioritizing PRISM change requests to meet evolving business needs.
- MiMOSA (Migrant Management and Operational Systems Application) requires further enhancement to support the automation and integration of facilitated migration services, including migrant registration, movement, medical care, training and counter-trafficking activities.

13. Staff development and learning

226. The Administration is committed to ensuring continued improvement of staff knowledge and skills. The focus is on developing new policies and tools to address the Organization's need for talent management, succession planning, professional certification and PRISM integration within existing learning platforms and mechanisms. Targeted individual training will be another component of IOM's training programme where there is an identified need.

14. Staff security

227. International organizations have reinforced their efforts to enhance staff and asset security management in response to the mounting threat to staff safety and security. IOM recognizes the potential threat to the lives of IOM staff in certain hazardous environments, and therefore participates in the UNDSS mechanism.

228. In line with Executive Committee Resolution No. 134 of 3 July 2012, a portion of project-related overhead income is earmarked to cover the Organization's fees for participation in the UNDSS mechanism, the costs of staff security structures and for compliance with the MOSS in IOM offices globally. Established internal procedures have proven effective in identifying safety and security requirements across the Organization, particularly in the Field, and these are addressed within reasonable security practices and standards. Security needs are assessed and security arrangements inspected on an ongoing basis in all IOM Field Offices, and staff receive training on security matters.

229. The actual use of the project-related overhead income earmarked for participation in UNDSS and other related costs will continue to be reported separately in the annual Financial Report. As at 31 December 2011, the staff security mechanism had a carry forward balance of USD 6,668,249.

15. Publications

230. IOM's publications programme has expanded enormously in recent years and continues to grow. The current publications catalogue lists over 700 titles. In order to increase the readership and sales of IOM publications, more should be invested in marketing and promotional activities and efforts will be made to: (a) expand participation in international book fairs, increase exchange advertising agreements to promote IOM publications and extend the visibility and availability of IOM publications in other regions through partnerships with local and regional publishers; and (b) streamline the sales and distribution processes by promoting and strengthening the IOM online bookstore. Plans have also been made to increase the number of publications made available in all three official IOM languages.

- News and information on IOM programmes

231. IOM will continue to present its programmes in a number of periodic publications such as brochures, info sheets, manuals, handbooks and other information leaflets.

- IOM's academic journal: International Migration

232. The journal will continue to be edited by Georgetown University, whose International Migration editorial team has held this responsibility since 2002. In response to a substantial increase in the number of articles submitted and to the demands of a wider readership, the journal now has six issues per year.

- Migration Policy Practice

233. Migration Policy Practice is a bimonthly journal published jointly by IOM and other partners. Contributions are received from senior officials in government, EU and international organizations and civil society worldwide, working in the field of migration policy.

- Migration Research Series

234. The Migration Research Series makes available research findings more accessible to policymakers and brings the results of policy-relevant migration research to the attention of a broader audience more readily than would be possible in academic journals and books. By September 2012, a total of 44 titles had been published in this series.

- Publications

235. The Organization also produces a substantial number of publications (studies, monographs, books) through its offices around the world and at Headquarters, either directly or through co-publishing arrangements with other organizations or commercial companies. IOM also works in partnership with United Nations Publications.

236. The IOM online bookstore, which is constantly updated, provides a large range of IOM publications in the three official languages. Most publications can be downloaded free of charge.

- World Migration Report

237. The World Migration Report is IOM's flagship publication on international migration and is published in English, French and Spanish. Its immediate purpose is threefold: (a) to present policy findings based on sound research, and practical options for a range of different stakeholders; (b) to analyse migration flows and trends; and (c) to survey current migration developments in the major regions of the world.

16. Gender issues activities

238. IOM is committed to promoting awareness of and sensitivity to gender issues throughout the Organization and to mainstreaming its gender policy in programmes to address the specific gender-related needs of migrant women and men. One of the main priorities is to establish IOM as a strong and central actor on gender and global migration issues with donors, United Nations agencies, countries of destination and origin and civil society. To strengthen the Organization's position, new concepts and innovative activities or events are being developed. In this context, a special focus will be given to research and knowledge generation in order to enhance various stakeholders' understanding of gender and migration issues.

239. In 2013, specific efforts will also be directed at strengthening the Organization's capacity to deliver on gender in line with its participation in the system-wide action plan on gender equality and the empowerment of women. In this framework, emphasis will be placed on organizing capacity-building activities for staff members. IOM will also continue with the implementation of its Action Plan on the Prevention of Sexual Exploitation and Abuse, consolidating and expanding staff awareness and active involvement.

17. Course on International Migration Law

240. In response to the interest expressed by governments, IOM organizes an annual course open to officials from various government ministries that formulate migration law and policy and are responsible for its implementation. The course provides a broad overview of international migration law, focusing on migration issues of specific interest. Dialogue and cooperation between government departments in the same country are also encouraged.

18. Regional consultative processes

241. In response to the growing complexity and diversity of international migration, a number of RCPs focusing on migration have been established in recent years. Periodic consultation offers participants the opportunity to share and exchange information on migration issues of topical interest. Such consultations facilitate and deepen cross-fertilization among RCPs, and explore ways to harness future opportunities for greater collaboration. Building on IOM's past involvement in organizing and supporting a number of RCPs, the Administration considers it important to strengthen structures in order to enhance engagement in the processes.

19. Unbudgeted activities and structures

242. The significant growth in the Organization's activities, with its inherent risks, and changing migration priorities require good management and prudent decisions in implementing projects around the world. The Administration has established internal control measures and policies to limit the risks associated with the complexity of IOM's operations. However, unforeseen developments with a potentially significant financial impact may result in: (a) emerging needs that cannot be realistically anticipated in advance; (b) co-funding requirements, when certain donors finance only a proportion of total project costs and IOM undertakes to implement the project in the expectation that it will be able to raise the outstanding amounts; and (c) a need for bridging funds to fill gaps during the transition from emergency operations to normal migration activities, when it might prove expensive to downsize structures, only to rebuild them again.

243. Taking into account IOM's "projectized" financial structure, and in the absence of other sources of income, unbudgeted expenditures resulting from unforeseen events are covered at the end of the year by additional OSI, if available, after all other avenues have been exhausted.

Budgeted resources: USD 1 500 000

MISCELLANEOUS INCOME

20. Humanitarian Assistance for Stranded Migrants

244. Although home country governments are responsible for assisting stranded migrants, they are often unable to respond to immediate needs. IOM is therefore frequently asked by governments and international agencies, at very short notice, to provide humanitarian emergency assistance to migrants, particularly those who find themselves in difficult migratory circumstances for which funding is not readily available.

245. The Humanitarian Assistance for Stranded Migrants programme, which serves as a funding mechanism to provide global, timely and effective responses, seeks to: (a) provide flexible and quick humanitarian assistance to stranded migrants in difficult circumstances for whom support is not readily available from existing programmes; and (b) derive, from the information collected in providing such assistance, a clearer picture of changing trends in irregular migration in order to help the international community formulate countermeasures that can be included in future IOM programming.

21. Centre for Information on Migration in Latin America (CIMAL)

246. As a service to States and the general public, IOM will continue to provide information on international migration and related matters in Latin America, the Caribbean and other geographical areas. This information has been compiled over the years from reliable sources, such as academic institutions, migration specialists and projects and information units working on migration in the region, and allows the characteristics and magnitude of migration movements within the region to be understood and monitored. CIMAL has published and updated a bibliographic registry of publications on migration, reverse technology transfer, human resources and related matters in Latin America and the Caribbean. It also plays a major role in the promotion and use of modern information dissemination tools and methodologies in order to make regional systems more compatible.

22. Technical Cooperation in the Area of Migration (PLACMI), Latin America

247. This activity is described in section IV.3.6 of this document, where full donor contributions are shown. This paragraph reflects only the additional amount allocated from OSI to enhance IOM's structures in support of PLACMI, a part of which is to be used to help the Organization of American States organize the annual Inter-American Course on International Migration with the National Directorate of Migration of Argentina. This course provides an opportunity to harmonize migration policies in the region and has contributed to improved migration management and administration. The combined funding for PLACMI totals USD 211,700.

23. Technical Cooperation Project to Strengthen the Puebla Process

248. This activity is described in section IV.3.7 of this document, where full donor contributions are shown. This paragraph reflects only the additional amount allocated from OSI to enhance IOM's structures in support of the Puebla Process. The combined funding for the Puebla Process totals USD 329,400.

Budgeted resources: USD 20 000

24. Support to Strengthen the Central American Commission of Migration Directors (OCAM)

249. The general objective of the project is to strengthen the role of OCAM as a mechanism for consultation, coordination and cooperation on migration issues within the framework of the regional integration process. The project is based on the development of cooperation activities through the OCAM electronic communications network and the modernization of migration administrative systems. An allocation from OSI is provided in recognition of the importance of this mechanism in achieving regional integration.

25. IOM Development Fund

250. This funding mechanism (formerly known as Support for developing Member States and Member States with economy in transition – 1035 Facility) was renamed the IOM Development Fund at the request of Member States to better capture the essence and objectives of the fund and it provides a flexible means of responding rapidly and efficiently to the priorities of eligible Member States. The IOM Development Fund has two separate funding lines and the allocation and application of the funding is guided by Resolution No. 134 adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012.

251. Detailed criteria and guidelines on the IOM Development Fund provide practical guidance on the operation and management of the two funding lines and can be found on the IOM Development Fund page of the IOM website in all three official languages (www.iom.int/developmentfund/).

252. In summary, the IOM Development Fund operates within the parameters set out below.

- IOM uses the most recent version of the World Bank list of low-income to upper-middle income economies as the primary eligibility guideline. Countries that would otherwise be eligible because of their position on the World Bank list are excluded when they join the EU.
- Priority is given to capacity-building projects in the various IOM areas of activity, including research and feasibility studies related to such activities.

- National and regional projects are eligible for funding.
- Projects with good prospects for future funding and projects that provide co-funding for major donor commitments or bridging funds continue to be supported.
- Certain areas of IOM activity are excluded from consideration for support under the Fund. These include:
  - Movements: activities that are overseen by the IOM Resettlement and Movement Management Division, including IOM's traditional refugee and migrant transport and resettlement programmes;
  - Emergency: activities that are overseen by the IOM Preparedness and Response Division; for example, activities in response to the Haiti earthquake;
  - Major conferences and similar events that are continuations of ongoing dialogues and similar activities that are already well established; however, other conferences and similar events that may be useful in launching new regional processes, opening new geographical coverage or increasing programme planning and implementation between IOM and Member States are not excluded;
  - Projects mainly supporting IOM staff and office costs, including projects proposed for the specific purpose of opening an IOM office, are excluded; however, IOM staff and office costs can be included in the budget for project implementation following the usual IOM projectization approach, up to a maximum of 30 per cent of the budget;
  - Assisted voluntary return, unless the project has a significant government capacity-building component alongside the return component.
- In the context of regional projects, countries that are not IOM Member States continue to be included among the beneficiaries only where a majority of IOM Member States benefit from the project.
- Non-Member States cannot directly apply for support through the Fund.
- Member States subject to Article 4 of the IOM Constitution are not eligible for funding under Line 2.
- The following maximum funding levels apply:
  - Line 1: USD 100,000 for national and regional projects. Exceptional increases for regional projects will continue to be considered up to USD 200,000;
  - Line 2: USD 200,000 for national projects and USD 300,000 for regional projects. Funding requests beyond these limits are not considered.
- Distinct tracking and accounting have been introduced for the two funding lines.
- In order to ensure that it is properly administered, support functions are also funded from the Fund.

Budgeted resources: USD 7 285 000

GENERAL INFORMATION AND FINANCING

OPERATIONS

(in US dollars)

253. The Operational Part of the Budget is funded by voluntary contributions.

INTRODUCTION

254. Funding for the Organization's activities is mostly earmarked for specific projects or reimbursements for services provided. The Operational Part of the Budget is therefore based on funding IOM anticipates to receive from donors for new and ongoing activities based on formal contractual arrangements. The 2013 Operational Part of the Budget is estimated at USD 642.7 million.

255. The budgeted resources for 2013 have been established using current information on programmes which are expected to continue or commence in the budget year. This does not always reflect the total cost of implementing the projects, as only activities for which funding is currently available for the budget year are shown. The budgeted resources for staff, office and programme costs are therefore based on reasonable estimates at the time this document was being prepared.

256. In certain cases, not all the funds earmarked by donors for specific projects are utilized or committed in the budget year. The unused funds are carried over to the following year for continued project implementation. Funds expected to be carried over have been reflected as budgeted resources for the specific activities/projects for which they are intended.

257. If only partial funding has been received for a project's implementation, the portion requiring additional funds is included in Migration Initiatives for fund-raising purposes. The budget levels for such projects are increased in subsequent revisions to the Programme and Budget as additional funding is received.

258. Funding earmarked for specific programmes under the Operational Part of the Budget cannot be used for purposes other than those specified by the donor, and this limits IOM's ability to invest in new initiatives without firm pledges. Except for a limited amount of OSI which offers some flexibility, the Organization does not have its own funds from which to make allocations to specific programmes and/or support its Field structures. The Administration appeals to Member States to consider making unearmarked voluntary contributions towards the Organization's work.

259. Projected OSI for 2013 is USD 53.9 million and more information is provided in the section on its sources and application on pages 65 to 76.

260. The geographical breakdown provides a regional perspective on IOM programmes.

261. Annex I (Funds in special accounts) presents details of the funds and the criteria for their use.

262. Staff and office costs tables are included in Annex III. The staffing levels and related costs attributable to specific operational projects are based on the projections for staff and office structures, which depend on the level of activity and funding, and are therefore adjusted on an ongoing basis. Annex III also reflects staff positions, office structures and other costs funded by OSI.

263. Movement estimates are presented in Annex IV. This table presents a breakdown of the projected number of movements based on the anticipated level of activities.

GENERAL FINANCE AND BUDGET PRINCIPLES FOR FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT AT IOM

264. The following key principles provide the policy framework for IOM's financial management, in particular with regard to project budgets under the Operational Part of the Budget. These key principles are explained in greater detail in the document entitled IOM's financial and administrative policies applicable to operational projects funded by voluntary contributions (IC/2009/7).

265. Direct costs are costs that are incurred for, and can be attributed directly to, specific project activities. Direct costs are included in project budgets and are charged to the project. These include project personnel, equipment, project premises, travel and any other input necessary to achieve the project's objectives.

266. Indirect costs are costs that are incurred by IOM for administrative support services which cannot be attributed to specific projects. The indirect costs cover mostly administrative services, general oversight functions at Headquarters and in the Field, and staff security structures that allow the Organization to implement its activities across the globe efficiently and in a coherent manner.

267. Projectization is a methodology adopted by IOM to allocate costs to project activities based on the staff time spent working on that activity. Every activity in IOM is assigned a project code used to record all funding and expenditure relating to that activity. Each project is managed by a project manager, who is accountable for the efficient use of resources to achieve the project's objectives. This project management system relies heavily on the private sector budgeting practice known as "activity-based costing" and has proven successful, as a large number of projects have been completed in a cost-efficient manner using this approach.

268. Project-related overhead: Project-related overhead is a percentage charged on all project-related direct costs and used as supplementary funding for the Organization's core structure and to cover the Organization's fees for participation in the UNDSS mechanism. The project-related overhead rate is 5 per cent on total costs except for resettlement and return programmes, where international transport costs make up a significant portion of the total cost. For that category of projects, an overhead rate of 12 per cent is applied only on staff and office costs.

269. The project-related overhead income mechanism is used to complement funding for the Organization's core structure, its participation in UNDSS, for compliance with the MOSS and to pay for other staff security costs.

270. Terminal emoluments: This is the sum of entitlements due to a staff member upon separation from the Organization in line with the employment contract or the Staff Regulations and Rules. For staff covered by the Administrative Part of the Budget, a budgetary method is used to pay separation entitlements to those who leave the Organization. However, the majority of staff are covered by the Operational Part of the Budget and a reserve is maintained equal to the total estimated terminal emoluments. This is currently covered by charging 8 per cent on the staff costs of all projects. The percentage is regularly reviewed to determine its appropriateness. Terminal emoluments include: (a) severance pay or termination indemnity; (b) unused annual leave; (c) other entitlements such as repatriation grants and travel costs for Officials; and (d) after-service health insurance coverage for retired staff.

PROJECT-RELATED OVERHEAD

271. As mentioned in the previous section, project-related overhead is a percentage charged on projects to cover indirect costs and the Organization's fees for participation in the UNDSS mechanism.

272. Resolution No. 134 adopted by the Executive Committee on 3 July 2012 sets the base rate of project-related overhead income at 5 per cent on total costs for all project activities, except for resettlement and return programmes where international transportation costs make up a significant portion of the total cost of the activity and the rate of project-related overhead income is therefore charged on 12 per cent of staff and office costs. A lower rate of overhead may be applied to bilateral funds from developing Member States requesting technical assistance from IOM for the implementation of national development projects and on "pass through" funds where IOM's involvement is limited to merely transferring funds to another entity.

273. In another category of exceptions, the institutional policies of certain donors provide for a higher overhead rate in the expectation that some staff and office costs will be covered by the differential. The overhead rate applied by IOM in such cases is limited to 5 per cent.

274. The Administration maintains a mechanism to transparently monitor income generated from 1 per cent out of the total 5 per cent project-related overhead, and 2.5 per cent out of the 12 per cent overhead, for payment of the cost of IOM's participation in the UNDSS and, within the limits of available resources, the cost of MOSS compliance requirements, evacuations and other staff security costs.

275. The following table illustrates the overhead that is expected to be generated from the different overhead rates of projects and programmes included in this document under the Operational Part of the Budget.

Overhead rate	2013 Total budget in millions of USD	% of total 2013 budget	2013 Staff and office costs out of the total budget in millions of USD	2013 Overhead in millions of USD

ANTICIPATED VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE OPERATIONAL PART OF THE BUDGET

276. The list of anticipated voluntary contributions from governments and multilateral donors for the implementation of projects under the Operational Part of the Budget for 2013 is shown on page 84. Part of the earmarked contributions relates to reimbursable transport-related services for resettlement programmes and the remainder is applied directly to the projects for which the funds have been earmarked. In certain cases, not all the financial resources earmarked by donors in 2012 for specific initiatives will be utilized or committed in the course of the year. The remaining funds will therefore be carried forward into the following year for continued project implementation and are shown as budgeted resources.

277. The amounts in the “unearmarked” column are based on specific discussions, notifications received and agreements concluded with Member States, or are guided by calculations made in applying the model schedule of voluntary contributions to the Operational Part of the Budget (Council Resolution No. 470 of 23 November 1970: Voluntary financing of operations).

278. The preference of certain donors to earmark resources for initiatives addressing migration issues of specific interest to them has led to a noticeable decrease in unearmarked funding over the last few years. Given that the Organization has no financial resources of its own that can be used in a flexible manner to initiate new projects in response to migration issues of relevance to stakeholders, the Administration appeals to Member States to consider making unearmarked voluntary contributions to the Operational Part of the Budget. Such funds afford the Organization the possibility to adapt its strategies to constantly evolving migration patterns. They also serve as seed money to support IOM structures in critical areas where project funding is not fully developed, and to carry out necessary core functions.

279. Migration unquestionably has a far-reaching impact that affects all countries to varying degrees, and a concerted global effort is required to address the associated issues. The growing complexity and scope of the migration phenomenon require a focused approach backed by appropriate resources that enable the Organization to support government efforts to find solutions. The Administration therefore once again appeals to donor governments for unearmarked funds, which are more urgently needed than ever. The Administration will continue to explore, with Member States, the possibilities for general financial contributions that will help IOM meet the numerous challenges migration poses to all countries worldwide.

280. The total budget for Movement, Emergency and Post-crisis Migration Management is approximately USD 325.0 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

281. Movement, Emergency and Post-crisis Migration Management activities, which are the responsibility of the Department of Operations and Emergencies, provide secure, reliable, flexible and cost-effective services to migrants during emergency and post-crisis situations, and ensure that the human rights and well-being of migrants are guaranteed in accordance with international law.

282. The following programme areas are used to classify Movement, Emergency and Post-crisis Migration Management projects and activities.

283. Resettlement Assistance: IOM will continue to provide a wide range of support to governments and the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) in implementing refugee resettlement programmes offering resettlement as a durable solution to individual needs for international protection. While IOM support for resettlement is multisectoral and spans the continuum of the resettlement process, the Organization will retain a fundamental focus on arranging the safe, orderly, flexible and cost-efficient international transport of refugees from countries of first asylum to countries offering resettlement. The movement of people accounts for a significant portion of IOM's operational programmes and IOM maintains a global operational structure to implement ongoing and emerging resettlement and movement activities.

284. IOM helps resettle people accepted under various programmes by providing case processing and medical assessments, training and transport services as circumstances require. Migration health assessments and treatment form an integral part of IOM's support for resettlement programmes, thus some of the resources budgeted for these activities are reflected under this programme area.

285. Changing economic and security environments have severely impacted the airline industry and made it more challenging for IOM to negotiate concessionary fares and conditions. IOM has sought and continues to develop additional partnerships in order to maintain a robust, reliable and cost-efficient network of transport options.

286. To strengthen its capacity to track and manage resettlement operations, IOM has developed and implemented proprietary information management tools such as the Migrant Management and Operational Systems Application (MiMOSA) and the Integrated Global Airlines Ticket Order Record (iGATOR). These tools enhance the Organization's capacity to manage operational activities, control costs and monitor emerging trends. Ongoing staff training complements these tools with the aim of maintaining a high level of operational readiness across IOM's global network of Field Offices.

287. Repatriation Assistance: IOM will continue to provide voluntary repatriation assistance to refugees, mainly in support of UNHCR repatriation activities. These returns are carried out in accordance with protection concerns and procedures, which take into account the specific status of returnees. As part of a comprehensive repatriation assistance package provided to ensure the safe and sustainable return of refugees to their countries of origin, transport arrangements made for the beneficiaries are often supplemented with reintegration assistance, including travel health assistance and medical escort services where needed.

288. Emergency and Post-emergency Operations Assistance: IOM's activities relating to emergency and post-emergency operations assistance will focus on four phases of emergency intervention: mitigation, preparedness, response and recovery. Programme activities cover emergency relief, return, reintegration, capacity-building and protection of the rights of affected populations. In particular, IOM engages in programmes that support the return and reintegration of former combatants into civilian life as an essential part of the transition from conflict to peace, while also helping to strengthen government capacity. Where applicable, health and psychosocial support components are integrated into the multisector response activities. IOM programmes in the post-emergency phase bridge the gap between relief and development by empowering communities to assist in the reconstruction and rehabilitation of affected areas as one of the ways to prevent forced migration.

289. As part of its work in complex emergencies and efforts to promote disaster preparedness and response, for example in connection with the avian and human influenza pandemic and civil-military cooperation, IOM continues to build trust and cooperation with partners by sharing information and conducting simulation exercises at the national and regional levels while developing effective response capabilities.

290. Through the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC), IOM supports "collaborative responses" conducted in close cooperation with the United Nations system and other organizations and with due respect for individual mandates and expertise. Its participation in the United Nations Consolidated Appeals Process, its lead role under the cluster approach in camp coordination and camp management in natural disasters, and the fact that it is a key partner in emergency shelter, logistics, health, protection and early recovery ensure that its activities are well coordinated.

291. Elections Support: IOM provides assistance to governments and migrants with a view to promoting political rights and expanding access of migrant communities (diaspora, refugees and internally displaced persons (IDPs)) or potential migrants to democratic electoral processes in their countries or territories of origin. It also promotes national and local elections as a fundamental component of democracy, conflict prevention and community stabilization. IOM's activities relating to elections support focus on the different stages of the electoral cycle and are implemented in coordination with partners. This collaborative approach is intended to provide effective electoral assistance to governments requiring such support.

I.1 Resettlement Assistance

Programme/Project	Objectives
I.1 Resettlement Assistance	Pursuant to cooperation agreements signed with host countries and in close collaboration with UNHCR and other international agencies, governmental organizations, NGOs and private sponsors, assistance will be provided to resettle approximately 100,000 people in various destinations in North America, Northern and Western Europe, Australia and New Zealand under various resettlement programmes in 2013. * Health issues affect all migrants and cut across all areas of IOM's work. This section reflects only purely migration health programmes and projects. Migrant health activities which are integrated into other IOM services appear in other parts of this document.

292. The total budget for Migration Health is approximately USD 65.7 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

293. IOM's Migration Health programmes support States in addressing the health needs of migrants, mobile populations and host communities by strengthening public health systems through evidence-based policy advocacy, effective service delivery, research, information sharing, multisectoral coordination and partnerships. The Migration Health Division implements programmes in partnership with governments, international agencies, academia, and key non-governmental organizations/civil society partners, including migrant associations, to reach a wide range of migrants and mobile populations and their host communities. The Division plays an active role within the IASC Global Health Cluster, the IASC subsidiary bodies on HIV/AIDS and the Reference Group on Mental Health and Psychosocial Support in Emergency Settings at the global and country levels. IOM now pursues migration health activities in approximately 60 countries worldwide, and annual expenditure has almost tripled in the past five years. It advocates for migrants' right to health throughout the migration process – before departure, during travel and transit, and upon return home. As health is a cross-cutting theme, the Migration Health Division seeks to ensure that the health of migrants and their families is appropriately addressed and integrated into non-health IOM projects and programmes.

294. The following programme areas are used to classify Migration Health projects and activities.

295. Migration Health Assessments and Travel Health Assistance: At the request of migrant- and refugee-receiving States, health assessments are provided to persons before their departure to resettlement countries. The main objectives of this global programme are to improve the health of migrants, in order to reduce and better manage the public health impact of population mobility on receiving countries, to facilitate the integration of migrants through early detection and management of health conditions and to provide information on the medical conditions of migrants. In addition to offering large-scale pre-departure treatment for high-prevalence conditions like malaria and intestinal parasitism, IOM also provides diagnostic and treatment services to migrants with tuberculosis and certain sexually transmitted infections. Migrants are immunized against vaccine-preventable diseases and offered confidential pre- and post-test HIV counselling. Migrants travelling under one of the Organization's programmes are assessed for fitness for travel before departure and medical escorts are arranged for migrants who need assistance and care en route. IOM is also involved in research activities related to health aspects of resettlement operations.

296. Health Promotion and Assistance for Migrants: Guided by the Sixty-first World Health Assembly resolution on the health of migrants (May 2008), IOM provides and facilitates access to high-quality health services for migrants, including trafficked persons, migrant workers and other mobile populations and host communities. Technical support is given to governments to better manage migration-related health and psychosocial challenges. IOM works closely with academic partners, civil society and migrant communities in the area of health promotion, control and management of infectious diseases such as tuberculosis, HIV/AIDS and malaria, sexual and reproductive health, mental health and psychosocial support, and pandemic preparedness. With this support, IOM aims to make national health systems more migrant-friendly and responsive to the health needs of migrants and migrant-hosting communities. IOM undertakes a substantial amount of primary and secondary research on migration health and makes these data available to promote migrant health policies. In addition, IOM works closely with the World Health Organization and other key stakeholders to support Member States in facilitating the implementation and monitoring of the Global Code of Practice on the International Recruitment of Health Personnel, adopted by the Sixty-third World Health Assembly held in May 2010. The Migration Health Division also works in close liaison with other divisions within IOM to ensure that migration health is adequately addressed and integrated; for example, by ensuring health and psychosocial aspects in pre-departure training for labour migrants or providing psychosocial services for victims of trafficking and assisting in counter-trafficking training for government officials to build their capacity to meet the health needs of trafficked persons.

297. Migration Health Assistance for Crisis-affected Populations: The main focus of this programme area is to assist and guide governments and affected communities in emergency preparedness, during and in the aftermath of emergencies or crisis situations, and ensure continuity of health care throughout the migration cycle by managing health issues related to population displacement, facilitating referral mechanisms and arranging medical evacuations for individuals who cannot be cared for locally because health facilities are overstretched or have been destroyed. Community health revitalization and health aspects of reintegration for demobilized soldiers are also some of the focus areas of this programme. IOM ensures that mechanisms are in place to address public health concerns, ensure continued care for the chronically ill after returning home and promote environments of health and well-being in situations of displacement and crisis. Emergency programmes to help reconstruct damaged health infrastructures give fresh impetus to community-based services. While initial assistance may include short- to medium-term solutions, such as providing the expertise of health diaspora, medical equipment and supplies needed to support basic health needs, the long-term goal is to contribute to efforts to rebuild a country's capacity and strengthen existing mechanisms by training local primary health-care or non-health personnel and thereby achieving sustainable solutions in line with national health plans. IOM's health responses to emergencies encompass the provision of mental health support to individuals in need of specialized attention. In addition, IOM has in a decade developed a model of psychosocial support for communities affected by complex emergencies which include health, protection and community reactivation components in a multidisciplinary and holistic fashion. This model, which is in line with the relevant IASC guidelines and IOM guidance notes, encompasses activities on all levels of the intervention pyramid, focusing on capacity-building for national professionals.

	Total	4 719 700	20 048 400	1 227 800	25 995 900

298. The total budget for Migration and Development is approximately USD 26.0 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

299. Migration and development is a matter of crucial concern to the international community, as reflected in both the United Nations High-level Dialogue on International Migration and Development and the Global Forum on Migration and Development. Capitalizing on the positive relationship between migration and socio-economic development has long been a strategic focus of IOM's work on migration management. In an era of unprecedented levels of human mobility, there is a particularly urgent need to develop a fuller understanding of the linkages between migration and development, to take practical steps to enhance the benefits of migration for development, and to outline sustainable solutions for problematic migration situations. IOM approaches the linkages between migration and development from the perspective that international migration, if properly managed, can contribute to the growth and prosperity of countries of origin and destination, while also benefitting the migrants themselves.

300. Programmes and activities in this area include: strengthening the capacity of governments to maximize socio-economic opportunities by establishing more development-oriented migration policies; addressing the root causes of economically motivated migration, including the effects of environmental degradation, through community development and by enhancing the ability of governments to focus development actions more strategically; pursuing initiatives to mobilize the skills and financial resources of expatriate African communities for investment and development in Africa, as much as possible in close collaboration with the host countries; supporting national development or rehabilitation and reconstruction processes in developing countries, countries whose economies are in transition or those which are recovering from conflict situations, through the return and socio-economic reintegration of skilled and qualified nationals from abroad; and facilitating the development of policies and mechanisms that improve money-transfer services for migrants, thereby enhancing the development impact of remittances.

301. The following programme areas are used to classify Migration and Development projects and activities.

302. Migration and Economic/Community Development: There are two types of activities in this programme area. The first aims to harness the benefits of migration for the development of countries of origin and destination. It focuses on building the capacity of governments and other stakeholders in countries of origin to communicate with their expatriate communities and engage them in initiatives related to home country socio-economic development, and on contributing to the establishment of more development-oriented migration policies. The second type of activity helps address the root causes of economically motivated migration, including the effects of environmental degradation, by enhancing the ability of governments and other key players to focus development actions more strategically on home country migration dynamics. Projects focus on expanding economic opportunities and improving social services and community infrastructure in specific geographical areas that are prone to economic emigration or in need of development to absorb and sustain the return of migrants.

303. Return and Reintegration of Qualified Nationals: Based on its experience, IOM continues to support national development or rehabilitation and reconstruction processes in developing countries and in countries whose economies are in transition or that are recovering from conflict situations. One way IOM does this is through the return and socio-economic reintegration of skilled and qualified nationals from abroad on short-term, repeated or longer-term professional assignments. Programmes on the return and reintegration of qualified nationals and similar projects include measures to identify gaps in human resource needs that cannot be met locally, to reach out to, recruit and place qualified candidates in sectors that are key to the country's development or reconstruction, and to provide transport and other assistance. IOM also assesses and conducts research into potential programming support and provides technical advice for countries setting up a mechanism for the return and reintegration of qualified nationals within a broader national policy and/or international community plan for development, rehabilitation and reconstruction that comprises the transfer of the knowledge and skills acquired by qualified nationals abroad.

304. Remittances: Over the past decade, worldwide remittance flows have more than doubled, with migrants sending significant amounts to their families in developing countries. These private flows overshadow official development assistance and in many cases surpass foreign direct investment, making remittances one of the most tangible benefits of international migration for migrants' families, communities and countries of origin. Activities relating to remittances generally aim to facilitate the development of policies and mechanisms that improve remittance services to migrants, lower transaction costs and enhance the development impact of remittances. In this area, IOM is currently focusing on data collection, policy dialogue, the dissemination of good practices and pilot project implementation.

305. The total budget for Regulating Migration is approximately USD 156.2 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

306. While in general migration is a positive force in countries of origin and destination, unregulated migration can pose social, financial and political challenges to individuals, societies and governments alike. Comprehensive, transparent and coherent approaches to migration management, involving all countries along the migration continuum, can help address the negative aspects associated with irregular migration, including migrant smuggling and trafficking in human beings, and preserve the integrity of migration as a natural social process. Good governance in migration matters at the national, regional and international levels is increasingly recognized as a key component of orderly and humane population movements.

307. IOM helps governments develop and implement migration policy, legislation and institutional mechanisms that enhance migration management, while also providing specialized support to migrants in accordance with their protection needs and with due regard for their gender and age-specific requirements and human dignity.

308. IOM provides technical assistance for government officials and trains them to assess, improve and upgrade their migration management operational systems, for example issuance of travel documents, development of data systems and border management technologies, including data capture and biometrics. It implements programmes to facilitate the assisted voluntary return of unsuccessful asylum-seekers, stranded persons and other migrants, and to ease their reintegration in their countries of origin with due regard for the needs of the migrants themselves and the concerns of local communities. IOM takes a rights-based approach to implementing a wide range of activities in support of trafficked persons and other vulnerable migrants, including unaccompanied migrant children, providing technical assistance to governments and NGOs and direct assistance in partnership with NGOs and government agencies. Several governments turn to IOM to support their efforts to find sustainable solutions for the increasing numbers of unaccompanied children crossing their borders. IOM's support includes family tracing, assisted voluntary return and capacity-building for relevant State authorities in countries of origin, working together with UNICEF and UNHCR. IOM supports the implementation of comprehensive assistance projects addressing the needs of unaccompanied migrant children in border regions.

309. In addition, programmes focus on the prevention of trafficking, exploitation and abuse of migrants, with a renewed emphasis on the importance of addressing the factors that create demand for the goods and services produced and provided by trafficked and exploited migrants.

310. The following programme areas are used to classify Regulating Migration projects and activities.

311. Return Assistance for Migrants and Governments: IOM's objective is to provide enhanced support to facilitate the assisted voluntary return and reintegration of migrants in their countries of origin. Assisted voluntary return and reintegration is one of the key migration management services IOM offers to migrants and governments. Assisted voluntary return and reintegration programmes offer a more humane, dignified and cost-effective alternative to forced return for those migrants who are unwilling or unable to stay in their host country and who at the same time cannot return by their own means. Assisted voluntary return and reintegration programmes are either available to all migrants requiring return assistance, or tailored to the particular needs of specific groups, including vulnerable migrants. A typical programme provides information, referral services and travel arrangements to the home location. Additional assistance may include undertaking needs assessments of target groups in the host and origin countries, and providing return information and counselling for potential returnees, documentation and health assistance, and reception on arrival and longer-term reintegration support both for the returnees and their communities in the countries of origin to ensure sustainable returns.

312. Assisted voluntary return and reintegration programmes are particularly effective when they are part of a multi-pronged approach to migration management tailored to specific migration scenarios. When implemented quickly and in conjunction with effective asylum and border management in host countries, they can help preserve the integrity of regular migration systems. When large numbers of irregular migrants are stranded in transit countries, the programmes can be combined with capacity-building measures for the countries of transit and reception and humanitarian assistance for stranded and often destitute migrants in an overall strategy to address irregular migration in the country/region concerned. In such situations, IOM also offers its technical support to establish or enhance assisted voluntary return and reintegration mechanisms that provide sustainable support to stranded migrants. Similarly, it provides technical and other support to governments and others for improved return migration management, conducts research for that purpose, and facilitates the dialogue on return migration between origin, transit and host countries.

313. Counter-trafficking: IOM works to address trafficking in persons and migrant exploitation within the wider context of migration management, and in close cooperation with governments, relevant United Nations agencies and NGOs in source, transit and destination countries. IOM's primary aims are to prevent trafficking in persons and the exploitation of migrants, and to ensure the protection of victims. In pursuit of these aims, the Organization has adopted a comprehensive approach that consists of the following main areas of intervention.

314. IOM conducts quantitative and qualitative research on trafficking, focusing in particular on trafficking routes and trends, the causes and consequences of human trafficking and migrant exploitation, both for the individual and for society at large, and the structure, motivations and modus operandi of organized criminal groups.

315. Preventing trafficking in persons and migrant exploitation through targeted information, education and communication projects is another priority area of intervention. Information campaigns are implemented in both destination and source countries, and aim to change attitudes and behaviour by raising the awareness of consumers to "buy responsibly", and equipping vulnerable populations with the information they need to protect themselves from traffickers.

316. Technical cooperation activities build the capacity of both government and civil society institutions to address the challenges posed by human trafficking. These include training NGOs and government officials, including law enforcement officials, providing technical support for the development of counter-trafficking policies and procedures, and upgrading infrastructure.

317. Governments and NGOs continue to look to IOM to provide direct assistance for trafficked persons and exploited migrants through programmes or through support from IOM's Global Assistance Fund for the protection of victims of trafficking. The assistance provided is tailored to the specific needs of the beneficiary, and may include safe accommodation, medical and psychosocial support, skills development and vocational training, reintegration assistance, and options for a voluntary and dignified return to the country of origin or, in extreme cases, resettlement in a third country.

318. Immigration and Border Management:

By providing active partnership, information, know-how and resources, IOM immigration and border management projects aim to strengthen the capacity of governments and other relevant players to address migration issues in a comprehensive, cooperative and ultimately self-reliant manner. IOM helps States develop and implement projects and programmes that focus on strengthening the capacity of government services, NGOs and other stakeholders to manage migration effectively and combat irregular migration in a manner consistent with international law.

319. The projects implemented address core migration governance concerns, such as policy, legal and administrative frameworks, and provide support for the operational systems used, for instance, to control borders and issue travel documents. They offer advisory services, technical assistance and training activities to strengthen the institutional capacity of the national migration authorities to articulate and manage migration policy, legislation and administration, and to foster collaborative migration management approaches among States. These activities routinely include:

(a) diagnostics on the causes, characteristics and effects of migration; (b) assessment and, if necessary, revision and reformulation of migration policies, laws and administrative structures; (c) professional and technical training for government officials; (d) technical assistance to enhance key administrative and operational systems; (e) support for the coordination and integration of migration policies within affected regions; and (f) the establishment or enhancement of a multilateral dialogue and planning processes for migration management. Key areas may include: improving migration data and border management systems; improving the integrity of travel documents and the systems used to issue them; establishing or strengthening national or regional training programmes for migration officials; special programmes to ensure respect for the human rights of migrants; and improving services for vulnerable migrant groups. Increasingly, the emphasis is on actions consistent with the Protocol against the Smuggling of Migrants. IOM also provides technical support and capacity-building for non-governmental agencies with key roles in the migration sector, and promotes the sharing of knowledge and practical experience through the recruitment, transfer and short-term assignment of experts to work on a wide variety of migration issues.

V. FACILITATING MIGRATION

	Programme/Project	Staff and office costs	Programme costs	Overhead	Total costs
V.1	Labour Migration	1 482 000	2 291 000	195 300	3 968 300
V.2	Migrant Processing and Integration	8 583 500	25 493 400	1 011 900	35 088 800
	Total	10 065 500	27 784 400	1 207 200	39 057 100

320. The total budget for Facilitating Migration is approximately USD 39.1 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

321. Mobility is an essential feature of today's world. Integrated global markets, the emergence of transnational networks and the rapid development of communication technologies have all contributed to stronger flows of skilled and unskilled workers, students, trainees, professionals and families. Demographic and social developments in industrialized economies have spawned a need for workers and professionals from other countries. Large-scale migration represents potentially difficult adjustments, but economies that want to remain competitive cannot ignore the need for change. The fact that some countries of destination have limited diplomatic and immigration representation also requires innovative approaches to visa-related work.

322. In addition to promoting regional dialogue and to providing policy and technical advice on labour migration and other migratory movements to governments of countries of origin and destination, IOM offers governments, migrants and employers assistance with promotion and recruitment, language training, pre-departure and cultural orientation, immigration and visa support, assistance at departure, in transit and upon arrival and migrant integration. These are tailored to each programme's needs and provided at all stages of the process: information and application, interview and approval and post-arrival assistance. Integration strategies are an indispensable element in this context, given that integration support can help migrants adjust to their new environment and foster social harmony between the newcomers and the host community.

Facilitating migration can be a win-win proposition for governments, employers, migrants and communities.

323. The following programme areas are used to classify Facilitating Migration programmes and activities.

324. Labour Migration: Labour migration features at the top of the policy agenda of many countries, be they countries of origin or destination. Given that there are more than 86 million migrant workers around the world, the stakes are enormous. Three decisive factors will continue to fuel this kind of movement: the "pull" of changing demographics and labour market needs in many industrialized countries; the "push" of the population, unemployment and crisis in less-developed countries; and established transnational networks based on family, culture and historical relations between countries. A large proportion of labour migration is irregular, with a clandestine industry ready to abet it. Increasingly, governments at both ends of the migration spectrum are developing regulatory mechanisms to manage labour mobility to their individual and mutual benefit, and governments and migrants are turning to IOM for expert support and to facilitate regulated labour migration and direct assistance for migrants. IOM aims to facilitate the development of policies and programmes that are in the interests of migrants and governments through policy advice and capacity-building, information dissemination and awareness-raising, recruitment facilitation and inter-State dialogue and cooperation. IOM's labour migration approach promotes the protection of migrant workers and their families, fosters development, and opens legal avenues of labour migration as an alternative to irregular migration.

325. Migrant Processing and Integration:

This programme area consists of four areas, namely immigration and visa support solutions, travel assistance for individuals and governments, migrant training and migrant integration. The programmes are designed to facilitate migration under organized and regular migration regimes. The aim is to work on and improve existing processes to make them easier, more accessible and more efficient and reliable for both migrants and the governments concerned. IOM's immigration and visa support solutions include the provision of general country information, logistical assistance to support visa processing, skills and language testing facilitation, visa application assistance, document integrity and verification, non-adjudication interviews, biometric enrolment, travel document handling, visa appointment and visa issuance systems, visa application centres, family tracing and visa-related information services. The range of travel assistance for self-paying migrants is basically the same as that provided to government-funded refugee programmes, namely advantageous one-way migrant airfares, generous luggage allowances and airport departure, transit and arrival assistance, depending on the destination. An important feature, and one of IOM's traditional tasks, is preparing migrants and refugees for their new life in order to ease the settlement process. IOM provides pre-employment orientation, pre-departure/cultural orientation, language training and post-arrival integration assistance that engages both the migrants and the receiving community. Successful integration is a two-way process and depends on the willingness of the newcomers to adapt and that of the host society to accept them. IOM promotes harmonious coexistence between the newcomers and the host community by disseminating information on migrant rights and obligations, providing advisory and counselling services and running support programmes that enhance migrants' skills and thus enable them to become productive members of their new community.

VI.2	Migration Research and Publications	1 629 700	1 271 800	145 000	3 046 500
	Total	1 639 200	1 271 800	145 500	3 056 500

326. The total budget for Migration Policy and Research is approximately USD 3.1 million. The projects are listed by programme area, indicating the objective(s) of each project and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

327. Migration is a global issue, and, boosted by the forces of globalization, uneven development, demographic trends and environmental and climate change, it is gaining in prominence on the political agendas of governments all over the world. There is growing awareness among governments and other stakeholders about the interlinkages between migration and other policy matters, including socio-economic development, trade, employment, the environment, security and human rights, and about the need to ensure that migration policy development takes account of and is integrated into policy planning in these related fields. As the leading intergovernmental organization working with migrants and governments to respond to contemporary migration challenges, IOM is uniquely positioned to build on 60 years of grass-roots experience and meet the growing needs of its membership and the international community at large by providing guidance on migration policy. The Department of International Cooperation and Partnerships serves as the focal point for IOM's strategic policy coordination on international migration issues, international migration law, and for research and communication on international migration trends, policies and practices. It aims to support the growing needs of governments and other stakeholders to better understand the multidimensional aspects of contemporary migration, in particular emerging migration policy issues. Many of the Department's activities cut across various areas of IOM's work, and they are reflected in other sections of this document under the relevant country or thematic activities.

328. The following programme areas are used to classify Migration Policy and Research projects and activities.

329. Migration Policy Activities: Sound data and policy analysis are key to understanding migration, developing effective new policies and designing sustainable practical approaches. The Department of International Cooperation and Partnerships provides information and advice on migration trends, challenges and opportunities. Its activities are aimed at strengthening the capacity of governments and other relevant stakeholders to develop and implement effective national, regional and global migration management policies and strategies. The Department also promotes multi-stakeholder policy dialogue on migration and related policy domains such as development, trade, the environment, health, security and human rights, among others, as well as through its work on regional consultative processes (RCPs) on migration and support to the Global Forum on Migration and Development and engagement with the Global Migration Group.

330. Activities in this area also include the IOM International Dialogue on Migration (IDM). The purpose of the IDM, consistent with the Organization's mandate, is to provide States, international organizations, NGOs and other stakeholders with an informal and non-binding forum for the exchange of views and experiences on migration matters, the aim being to enhance understanding of migration and strengthen cooperative mechanisms for comprehensively and effectively addressing migration issues. The IDM is designed ultimately to boost government capacity to ensure the orderly management of migration, promote its positive aspects and reduce its potential negative effects. The main session of the IDM takes place annually at the IOM Council; in addition, two intersessional workshops are convened each year to broaden and deepen reflection on migration. The themes for the main session and the intersessional workshops are selected through regular consultation with the membership. The Department also organizes expert workshops to explore emerging migration policy issues, and supports and contributes on a regular basis to the policy-oriented activities of IOM Field Offices, governments and other organizations and entities. In 2013, the IDM will be aligned with IOM's World Migration Report under the theme "Migrants and development", with the broad objective of adding value to the global debate on migration and development in the year of the Second High-level Dialogue on International Migration and Development and contributing to the preparation of IOM Member States for the High-level Dialogue.

331. The Department, under its policy functions, is also responsible for supporting and coordinating IOM's engagement with governments, intergovernmental organizations, civil society and the media and broader cooperation on migration. Related to these functions are continuous activities to monitor and develop IOM's partnerships at the inter-State and inter-agency level. Specific activities are undertaken, geared to support and foster partnerships with and among governments with a view to improving policy coherence and cooperative approaches to migration management at the bilateral, regional and global levels. These activities complement the policy activities outlined above and emphasize the development and strengthening of multilateral cooperation through an inter-agency, multi-stakeholder framework for consistent and effective cooperation with partner organizations, notably the United Nations and civil society.

332. Global consultations of RCPs are important mechanisms that foster inter-State cooperation and partnerships on migration issues by bringing States together for informal, non-binding dialogue at the regional level. In keeping with the commitment made by States in 2009 to hold global meetings of RCPs biennially, a third global meeting of RCPs was held in Gaborone, Botswana, in October 2011. These meetings offer a platform for the exchange of information and good practices on migration management and facilitate the cross-fertilization of ideas across regions and foster ongoing interaction among RCPs and, more recently, between RCPs and the Global Forum on Migration and Development. Planning is ongoing for the fourth global consultation of RCPs which is scheduled to take place in Lima, Peru, in 2013.

333. Migration Research and Publications: IOM conducts research on current migration issues to enhance and improve programme delivery and policy guidance for the Member States and other relevant stakeholders. It does so through improving the knowledge base for migration policymaking and producing fresh analyses of contemporary migration dynamics. The Migration Research Division helps IOM Field Offices manage research projects by endorsing project proposals, providing technical support and guidance, reviewing final reports for publication, building internal research capacity through staff training, offering information and library resources and working with external consultants on research into and studies of migration topics of current interest and concern.

334. Activities for 2013 will focus on the following key themes: (a) launching the World Migration Report 2013 focused on migrant well-being and development ahead of the Second High-level Dialogue on International Migration and Development; (b) country migration profiles in different regions; (c) migration and the environment; (d) migration and development; (e) the impact of migration policies and programmes; and (f) improving data collection and analysis, particularly in developing countries.

335. The Publications Unit will continue to produce a number of IOM's main publications, including the World Migration Report, IOM's flagship publication, the Migration Research Series, International Migration, a journal published six times a year and a new journal, Migration Policy Practice. Priority will be given to publishing more reports in French and Spanish and increasing the readership of IOM publications through more intensive marketing activities.

336. The total budget for Reparation Programmes is approximately USD 16.4 million. The projects are listed with their objective(s) and their link(s) to the activities outlined in the IOM Strategy on pages 10 and 11.

337. The challenges of migration in the twenty-first century increasingly require IOM to move beyond its traditional services. More and more governments are called upon, for example, to return and/or compensate persons dispersed worldwide who have suffered displacement, dispossession, persecution or other forms of personal harm as a result of conflict or under authoritarian regimes, and they turn to IOM's global network for assistance. As such new migration-related scenarios evolve, reflecting contemporary political realities, governments call upon IOM to offer corresponding variations of its core services. Since 2000, IOM has provided expert advice, technical assistance and capacity-building services to national and transitional governments and to international players engaged in peacebuilding and rehabilitation efforts following a conflict or natural disaster. IOM activities relating to Reparation Programmes mainly concern the design and implementation of programmes for the restitution of property rights, the provision of financial compensation or in-kind benefits to individual victims, and collective reparations for victim communities. The assistance provided also involves policy review and policy recommendations on national reparation strategies.

	Programme/Project	Objectives
VII.1	Support for the Land Restitution Policy in Colombia	To support the Government of Colombia in its efforts to implement a national policy for land restitution to IDPs and victims of land dispossession.

VIII.1.1 Associate Experts

339. The Associate Experts Programme is designed to foster the link for matching donor priorities with ongoing and potential IOM programmes, providing a valuable opportunity to achieve mutually beneficial developmental goals. These experts are a vital resource for the Organization and supplement its operations in diverse technical and operational areas at various duty stations. At the same time, these assignments are “learning-driven” and provide the Associate Expert with an opportunity to gain significant experience in an international environment. Associate Experts are assigned to IOM by governments for an initial period of one year, with the possibility of extension for up to three years, to assist with the Organization’s activities both in the Field and at Headquarters. In some cases, the Associate Experts are absorbed into IOM’s structures on completion of their assignment.

340. There are currently 15 Associate Experts at various stages of their contracts working for the Organization on a broad range of projects at IOM Headquarters and in Field Offices in Accra, Dar es Salaam, Islamabad, Nairobi, Rabat and Yangon. They are sponsored by the Governments of Australia, Finland, Germany, Japan, the Netherlands, Sweden and the United States of America. Further negotiations have been entered into with other governments for additional Associate Experts. Governments generally support their own nationals for this programme, but some donors also sponsor nationals from developing countries.

Budgeted resources: 1 835 700

VIII.1.2 Special Assignments and Support

341. In addition to the staff and services covered by the Administrative and Operational Parts of the Budget, certain specific staff and other costs are funded by governments to supplement IOM's overall structure. With the budgetary constraints on core resources, this support is vital to the Organization's efforts to respond to and manage migration issues. The staff and office structures covered through these special arrangements are listed below.

- Expert on Migration and Development in Portugal, funded by the Government of Portugal

The Government of Portugal considers its relationship with Portuguese-speaking African countries to be very important and would like to maintain ongoing support for development in Africa. The Expert will help engage the Portuguese diaspora in migration and development programmes in the country and in Africa. He or she will also help create a decentralized strategy with a view to enhancing the impact of migration in projects related to migration and development.

- Expert on Migration Management, funded by the Government of Turkey

The Government of Turkey is funding the secondment of a senior expert in migration who will support the Director of the Department of Migration Management with the formulation of IOM policy and programming on migration management in relation to complex migration flows.

- Office costs of the IOM Office in Brussels, funded by Belgium

The IOM Office in Brussels receives support from the Government of Belgium to partially cover its costs.

- Office costs of the IOM Office in Helsinki, funded by Finland

The IOM Office in Helsinki receives support from the Government of Finland to partially cover its costs.

- Office costs of the IOM Office in Kuwait City, funded by Kuwait

The IOM Office in Kuwait City receives support from the Government of Kuwait to partially cover its costs.

VIII.2 Migrant Management and Operational Systems Application (MiMOSA)

	Programme/Project	Staff and office costs	Programme costs	Overhead	Total costs
VIII.2	Migrant Management and Operational Systems Application (MiMOSA)	972 500		116 700	1 089 200

342. MiMOSA is an organization-wide information system for capturing and processing biographical and demographic information on individual migrants and the services provided to them with regard to medical screening, migrant training, assisted voluntary returns, pre-consular services, counter-trafficking and movement. Every IOM Field Office has access to the system, allowing Field staff to share data when providing multiple services within the office. The data are consolidated in the Central Data Repository for reporting purposes and for cross reference with other corporate systems like PRISM. MiMOSA has an automated interface with the US Department of State Refugee Processing Center system (WRAPS – Worldwide Refugee Admissions Processing System) and the United States Centers for Disease Control.

343. The Receiving Mission Interface (RMI) is a web-based application that allows receiving offices to process transactions such as the advance booking notifications, additions, deletions, cancellations and departures entered by the MiMOSA user to ensure data quality and consistency. RMI users can also enter domestic booking details from the port of entry to the final destination, interface with the Integrated Global Airline Ticket Order Record (iGATOR) and PRISM Financials, and update the arrival status of migrants in the destination country. The RMI is currently used by IOM New York. iGATOR is the corporate application that captures the costs of tickets for migrants, staff and consultants. It interfaces with MiMOSA, the RMI and PRISM, streamlining data exchanges between operations and finance, thereby further enhancing IOM's capacity to manage flight bookings and timely settlement of airline bills.

Budgeted resources: 1 089 200

VIII.3 Staff and Services Covered by Miscellaneous Income

	Programme/Project	Staff and office costs	Programme costs	Overhead	Total costs
VIII.3	Staff and Services Covered by Miscellaneous Income	412 000	7 068 000		7 480 000

In line with the guidelines for the use of interest accrued on the Sasakawa Endowment Fund, an allocation from the interest the Fund is expected to earn in 2013 has been earmarked for priority projects in Africa, Asia and Latin America and the Caribbean. The projects, which are yet to be identified, will focus on the promotion of migration-for-development activities, furthering understanding and analysis of migration, and responding to emergency and humanitarian needs.

ANNEXES

ANNEX I – FUNDS IN SPECIAL ACCOUNTS

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS ACCOUNT

In accordance with IOM General Bulletin No. 1054, the Emergency Preparedness Account (EPA) was established on 30 August 1993 for use in emergency situations where there is a clear need for immediate assessment and for other operational expenditure, prior to the actual receipt of external funding. Any authorized use of the EPA is considered as a loan against the specific operation that it initially supports, and all funds disbursed from the EPA are to be fully reimbursed as soon as possible once the operation obtains donor support. The balance of the Account in August 2012 was USD 188,810.

MIGRATION EMERGENCY FUNDING MECHANISM

Through Council Resolution No. 1229 of 5 December 2011, the Migration Emergency Funding Mechanism was established with the purpose of bridging the gap between the start-up of emergency operations and the subsequent receipt of donor funding. The Mechanism, which is intended to have an operating balance of USD 30 million, is to be funded from voluntary contributions from various sources, including Member States, the private sector and individuals. The balance of the Mechanism in August 2012 was USD 1,839,348.

The Mechanism was established against the backdrop of recent major emergencies which highlighted the need for a funding mechanism to facilitate IOM's rapid response and intervention in the wake of emergencies involving international migration. It complements the United Nations Central Emergency Response Fund and other funding mechanisms in providing rapid funding in emergency situations.

The Administration will expend funds from the Mechanism to ensure a rapid response to an emergency involving migration, pending receipt of donor contributions for the said emergency, and will replenish the Mechanism upon receipt of donor contributions and within the limits of funds allocated for the said emergency. The Mechanism is governed by the Financial Regulations of IOM and is subject to an annual audit by the Organization's External Auditor.

RAPID RESPONSE TRANSPORTATION FUND

Building upon the Memorandum of Understanding between IOM and UNHCR of May 1997, the Rapid Response Transportation Fund (RRTF) was established in 2000 to facilitate joint operations between the two organizations. It specifically lays out each organization's responsibilities in the provision of transportation assistance. Over the years, the RRTF has enabled IOM to respond rapidly and efficiently to emergency humanitarian transportation requirements in close collaboration with UNHCR. The RRTF is funded by voluntary contributions and aims at maintaining a balance of USD 5 million. The balance of the Fund in August 2012 was USD 545,665.

REFUGEE LOAN FUND

The Refugee Loan Fund, established pursuant to Resolution No. 210 of 12 May 1960, permits the financing, in part or in whole, of the cost of transporting refugees and related services by giving interest-free loans to those who require financial assistance to migrate to resettlement countries. Repayment of such loans is secured by promissory notes signed by the refugee or his or her sponsor.

It is estimated that 75,920 refugees will be seeking assistance under the Refugee Loan Fund in 2013, and that approximately USD 203,400,000 will be expended from the Fund to finance these movements.

The following table estimates the resources available and required for 2013, as well as the anticipated balance at the end of the year.

SASAKAWA ENDOWMENT FUND

The Sasakawa Endowment Fund was established in 1990 for the purpose of:

- (a) promoting the expansion of programmes to transfer human resources in all regions of the world, particularly in the Asia-Pacific area, and of other migration-for-development activities;
- (b) furthering the understanding and analysis of migration;
- (c) responding to emergency and other humanitarian migration needs.

Under the endowment agreement with the Sasakawa Foundation, the Fund's capital must remain intact and only the interest income generated from the Fund may be used to finance activities.

ANNEX II – FOREIGN CURRENCY CONSIDERATIONS IN THE PROGRAMME AND BUDGET

Under IOM's Financial Regulations, the Administrative Part of the Budget is expressed in Swiss francs (CHF), while the Operational Part of the Budget is expressed in US dollars (USD). While much of the income and expenditure under both parts of the budget occur in the indicated currencies, an increasing volume of transactions are made in other currencies, exposing the budgets concerned to exchange rate fluctuations. For example, the value of Field staff salaries paid in local currency may fluctuate when expressed in Swiss francs (Administrative Part of the Budget) or US dollars (Operational Part of the Budget), because of exchange rate fluctuations.

For the Programme and Budget, IOM's procedure is to use the exchange rates prevailing at the time the budget is prepared in order to express other national currencies in terms of Swiss francs or US dollars. The preparation process begins early in the year since budget estimates must be received from each IOM office worldwide and consolidated to meet the deadlines for the governing body meetings. The US dollar continued to weaken overall against other major currencies during 2012. The average rate of exchange recorded through August 2012 for some of the major currencies used by IOM are shown below:

Swiss franc/US dollar	0.938
Euro/US dollar	0.779/1.284
Pound sterling/US dollar	0.636/1.572
Canadian dollar/US dollar	1.007
Australian dollar/US dollar	0.968

The exchange rate applied to the Administrative Part of the Budget is 1.03 Swiss francs per US dollar. It should be noted that any effects of foreign exchange rate fluctuations on this part of the budget are largely neutralized because the predominant currency of income and expenditure is the same, namely Swiss francs. On the other hand, the Operational Part of the Budget is not as naturally hedged and its foreign currency positions are monitored on a continual basis by the Treasury Division.

ANNEX III – OPERATIONAL PART OF THE BUDGET – STAFFING LEVELS/STAFF AND OFFICE COSTS

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The projected staff and office costs for the Operational Part of the Budget take into account the office infrastructure required to implement the Organization's operational activities.

The staffing levels and related costs attributable to specific operational projects are included under project funds based on a projection of current staff and office structures and confirmed funding. Staffing levels and office costs which are based on a projection of existing structures are subject to the level of activity and funding and therefore adjusted on an ongoing basis.

Staff and office structures funded from Operational Support Income are reflected separately in the staffing table.
