These initiatives are funded by the United States Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration.

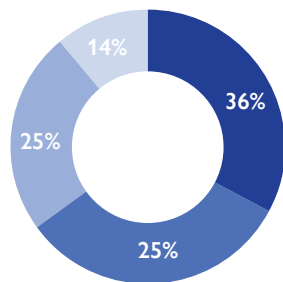

In terms of migration flows, the situation remained stable in the country throughout the month of November, with steady numbers of daily crossings both ways at the border crossing points with Ukraine. People coming from Ukraine who needed transportation continued to use the available transport options into Europe and beyond, and the assistance options available in Moldova.

In November 2022, Moldova has seen 30,872 people enter from Ukraine (of whom 89% are Ukrainians and 11% are third-country nationals).
